DEMOCRATS MAKE BIG GAINS IN HOUSE AND SENATE

Heavy G. O. P. Losses in Illinois, Ohio, Massachusetts Wets Win in Rhode Island, Ohio, Massachusetts, Illinois

SHERIFF LILL KILLS CUCKOO LEADER WITH OWN PISTOL

DISARMS GUNMAN, KNOCKS HIM DOWN

Weapon Discharged in Struggle After Outlaw Swings at County Officer — Wounded Man Dies in Hospital.

James Joseph Dormondy, reputed second in command of the notorious Cuckoo gang, died at Alexian Brothers' Hospital early today of a bullet wound suffered last night in a scuffle with Sheriff Al Lill of St. Louis County.

The gangster was shot by the Sheriff when he tried to regain possession of his .45-caliber revolver which Lill had taken away from him while questioning him at Lemay Ferry and Sappington roads.

"I had been driving around the south part of the county," Sheriff Lill said in telling of the shooting, "and I stopped about half an hour before midnight at Manley's filling station at the junction of the two roads.

"As I stood there talking to the proprietor of the station, a green Hudson sedan pulled up to the gasoline pump. There were five men in it and one of them got out from the back seat. He came over toward us and ordered some gasoline. I recognized him at once as Dormondy, whom I had arrested before. I guess he recognized me. I said, 'Hello, Jim,' but he acted like he didn't know me. 'My name is William Meyer and I don't know you,' he said.

Grabbed Gangster's Revolver. "I stepped up close to him. I could see his revolver sticking in his belt. I threw his coat open and grabbed it before he could get his hands on it.

"What are you trying to get away with anyhow?" I asked. I grabbed his shoulder, turned him around and started him over to the machine. As I did I could hear something fall to the floor and I figured that the men in the car were dropping their pistols on the floor. Through the open rear door could see ammunition on the floor.

"As we got to the machine Dormondy swung around. He called me a mighty ugly name and swore at me. The blow hit me on the nose, not very hard because I was almost out of reach—and I guess I should have shot him right there.

"Instead I swung at him with my left fist and knocked him down. I grabbed his revolver in my right hand, I grabbed him by the shoulder and jerked him to his feet. He yelled, 'Get it,' and the Hudson pulled away down the road.

Dormondy swung around and grabbed for the revolver. We were at close quarters and he got his hand on it. For a moment I tried to pull away from him, but he started to turn the revolver toward me. Then I let him have it—one shot. He fell down on the ground."

Gangster Shot Through Lungs. The heavy bullet had struck the gangster in the right side, and ranged through the lungs. He died at 2:10 a.m. today without regaining consciousness.

Dormondy, 23 years old, had been arrested frequently and questioned about occurrences ranging from peace disturbance to murder. He was classed by police as one of the most active members of the Cuckoo gang of extortionists, hold-up men and bootleggers.

SHOUSE EXPECTS DEMOCRATS TO RULE CONGRESS

Executive Committee Chair-

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Jouett Shouse, Chairman of the Democratic National Executive Committee, today said that election returns indicate an "assured Democratic majority in the House" and that "the Democrats will probably organize the next Senate."

The Democratic party has elected Senators in Massachusetts, Ohio,

West Virginia, Colorado, Illinois,

Oklahoma and Kansas," Shouse said.

candidates in South Dakota and Kentucky has not progressed far such increased votes in Democratic

All Proposed Amendments to State Constitution and City Charter Badly Beaten

PROPOSITION NO. 5 CARRIES IN CITY, BUT IS BEATEN IN ST. LOUIS COUNTY

Returns From 1845 of the 4309 Precincts in State Give 127,584 for Merger Plan and 153,513 Against Metropolitan Project.

All of the seven amendments to the State Constitution submitted at yesterday's election, including proposition No. 5, permitting the consolidation of St. Louis and St. Louis County under certain stated conditions, were defeated on returns from 2062 of 4309 precincts in the State.

The nine proposed amendments to the city charter of St. Louis intended to speed up condemnation proceedings in street widenings and other public improvements, were decisively beaten.

In St. Louis, only No. 5, the merger amendment, received a favorable vote, complete returns from the 670 precincts showing 63,845 for and 58,647 against.

St. Louis County voted down all amendments, complete returns from the 144 precincts defeating Proposition No. 5 by a vote of 21,693 to 14,161.

The State returns show:

No. 1 (to increase pay of legislators)—Yes, 128,466; No, 176,053.

No. 2 (to exempt certain real estate loans from taxation)—Yes, 117,554; No, 151,360.

No. 3 (making certain municipal utility bonds payable in 50 years)—Yes, 107,921; No, 130,163.

No. 4 (providing State employers' liability insurance)—Yes, 97,890; No, 230,335.

No. 5—Yes, 138,880; No, 174,753.

No. 6 (providing for excess condemnation)—Yes, 110,621; No, 135,114.

No. 7 (to permit Sheriffs and Coroners to succeed themselves)—Yes, 144,744; No, 160,535.

City Division on Nov. 5.

Proposition No. 5 carried in 14 St. Louis wards and was defeated in a like number. However, returns showed that the small majority it received in the city was due to the large affirmative votes of the West End wards. South St. Louis and most of the wards bordering on the river rejected it.

Only 78 per cent of those voting in St. Louis marked the merger amendment, the total being 121,992, as compared to a vote of 165,909 cast for candidates for Clerk of the Circuit Court of Criminal Causes. One amendment, No. 4, actively opposed by insurance companies, received a slightly higher combined affirmative and negative vote, 122,117. Only 71 per cent of those voting, 111,267, expressed themselves on Proposition No. 3.

On the other hand, in St. Louis County, where the Save St. Louis County League campaigned against the proposal of the Citizens' Metropolitan Committee, almost 99 per cent of those voting marked Proposition No. 5. Scarcely 82 per cent voted on Proposition No. 3.

University City and Richmond Heights, and the precincts in the unincorporated communities of Overland and Wellston, gave majorities for No. 5. Clayton, Maplewood, Webster Groves and Kirkwood voted against it. The vote by townships was: Central, Yes 10,699, No 10,760; St. Ferdinand, Yes 1621, No 3659; Carondelet, Yes 1631, No 3689; Bonhomme, Yes 733, No 2760; Meramec, Yes 87, No 86.

PLANS TO SPEED UP CONDEMNATIONS BEATEN IN ST. LOUIS

The nine City Charter amendments, designed to speed up condemnation proceedings for street widenings and public improvements, were defeated by a vote of approximately five to four, principally because of strong opposition in the South Side wards where Democratic orators made political thunder of the Gravels avenue widening project in attacking the Republican administration.

While seven of the 23 wards showed a majority in favor of the amendment, the three-fifths required for passage of the amendments was recorded only in three

West End wards—the Twenty-fifth, Twenty-sixth and Twenty-eighth.

Six South Side wards—Ninth,

Tenth, Eleventh, Twelfth, Thirteenth, Fourteenth and Twenty-fourth—voted approximately two to one against the amendments.

70 Per Cent Win on Charter.

Analysis of returns indicated that less than 70 per cent of the voting public took the trouble to mark the charter amendment ballot. The heaviest vote on a single amendment was 109,910, on No.

10, the first in the list, while the total vote on the office of Clerk of the Court of Criminal Correction was 165,909. Three-fifths of the vote cast upon a charter amendment is necessary for passage.

DEMOCRATS MAKE BIG GAINS IN SENATE AND HOUSE

Democrats in the next Congress, which, failing a special session, will not begin work until a year from next month, will be able to dominate the course of the legislation in both branches.

The grip of the Longworth-Tillman-Strauss machine on the House will be broken.

In the Senate, the real control will rest even more firmly at present in the hands of the Democratic party. This interpretation holds true whether or not the Democrats gain enough seats to take absolute control of the House and elect a speaker.

Democratic Claims.

At noon today the Democratic National Committee, through Charles Michelson, the district director, claimed the possibility of a coalition between the Senate and the House.

Democrats, however, were rebuked by the wet opponents in a party meeting last Sunday.

Progressive Victories.

Generally speaking, the progressives of both parties came out with handsome victories, and it is notable that they were in serious trouble only where they ran as drys.

The progressive Walsh won on the Democratic side, but the return shows he was hurt by his dryness. The dry progressive Norris won on the Republican side, but by a majority much less than he had six years ago.

But there is evidence far more positive than this to show that the dry cause suffered its most crushing defeat since prohibition became an issue.

Roosevelt for Governor of New York, running as a wet committed to the repeal of the eighteenth amendment, was swept into the second term by the greatest majority in the history of the State.

Tuttle, his opponent, also ran as a wet, but it was Roosevelt who stood out conspicuously as the exponent of prohibition repeal.

Everett, indicative of the wet trend were the victories of the Democrat, Bulkley, in Ohio, and the Democrat, Marcus Coolidge, in Massachusetts. Bulkley, in the State where the Anti-Saloon League was born, and where it had long been supreme in politics, only rolled up a huge vote in the cities but made amazing inroads on the rural districts.

In the senatorial races for the long term, 448 precincts out of 455 gave Judge M. M. Logan, Democrat, 40,269 votes to 29,268 for John M. Robison, Republican, serving by appointment. In the short term race Ben Williamson, Democrat, and 30,563, to 29,851 for Robison.

WOMAN LEAPS TO HER DEATH

A woman, about 50 years old,

Her body was recovered 30 minutes later by two boatmen, and is at the morgue, awaiting identification.

GIFFORD PINCHOT CHOSEN GOVERNOR OF PENNSYLVANIA

Despite 224,000 Plurality
Against Him in Philadelphia, G. O. P. Nominee Leads by 49,484.

By the Associated Press.
PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 5.—Gifford Pinchot, Republican candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania, today was conceded the election by John M. Hemphill, his Democratic and Liberal party opponent, as further returns from Upstate Pennsylvania increased the Pinchot lead.

With all but 835 districts tabulated, Pinchot's plurality was 49,484. All but 16 of these missing districts were Upstate, where the Republican candidate had rolled up a total which overcame the 224,000 plurality recorded by Hemphill in Philadelphia.

Additional tabulations of the vote for United States Senator served only to make more crushing the defeat of Sedgwick Kistler of Lock Haven, Democrat, by James J. Davis, Secretary of Labor and Republican nominee. The vote from 6089 out of 8221 districts in the State gave Davis a lead of 675,700.

State G. O. P. Ticket Wins.

Other Republican candidates for statewide offices likewise were elected by large pluralities. They are: Lieutenant-Governor Edward C. Shannon, Columbia; Secretary of Internal Affairs, Phillip H. Dewey, Gaines; Judge of the Supreme Court, George W. Maxey, Scranton, and Judges of the Superior Court, William B. Linn, Philadelphia, and James H. Drew, Pittsburg.

For 35 years the Republican nomination for Governor in Pennsylvania has been almost equivalent to election but the defection in this campaign made it race of it. Continuing the fight against Pinchot's ambition to again be Governor of Pennsylvania began in the primary campaign, the Philadelphia organization turned in almost solid support for Hemphill.

Hemphill ran far ahead of the Democratic party ticket largely because of the support accorded him by the Liberal party, of which he was the sole nominee. This party was composed largely of Republicans who sought to nominate wet candidates at the May primary in which attempt they polled more than 280,000 votes.

The Democratic and Liberal candidate on the face of complete and incomplete, returns carried Erie, Berks, Northampton, Lehigh, Montour, Montgomery, Ely and Philadelphia. The remainder went to Pinchot.

The solid Republican delegation of 36 in Congress was broken into to the extent of at least three. The seats lost to the Democrats, according to unofficial figures were the Eleventh, Lackawanna, won by Patrick J. Boland; the Fourteenth, Bucks-Luzerne, won by Norton L. Lichtenwalner; the Twenty-second, Adams-York, won by Harry L. Haines.

Both branches of the State Legislature remained predominantly Republican.

The gubernatorial campaign preceding yesterday's election was one of the liveliest Pennsylvania has seen in many years. Hemphill attempted to make the gubernatorial contest a referendum on prohibition, but Pinchot declined to debate.

Instead the Republican candidate devoted himself to attacks on the Philadelphia Republican organization and on the Public Service Commission. He alleged that unfair rates were being charged and promised to substitute a fair rate board to be elected by the people in place of the present commission, appointed by the Governor.

Wholesale defections from both parties marred the campaign. W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, resigned as a member of the Republican National Committee because he could not support the entire Republican ticket. William B. Wilson, Democratic candidate for the United States Senate against William S. Vare in 1926, and Secretary of Labor in the Cabinet of Woodrow Wilson, bolted to Pinchot.

In a statement concerning what he termed the "slowness of the Philadelphia count and return," Pinchot said he would put "every election thief" in the city behind the bars.

"Regardless of what my majority may be in the gubernatorial election," Pinchot stated, "I promise to open the Philadelphia ballot boxes in accordance with my promise to put behind the bars every election thief in the city."

NEW HAMPSHIRE REPUBLICAN

Senator Keyes Defeats Democrat
By 19,000.

CONCORD, Nov. 5.—New Hampshire clung to its normal Republicanism in yesterday's election but the majorities of the party's leading candidates were somewhat smaller than those of 1926.

The Republicans re-elected U. S. Senator Keyes for a third term. They broke New Hampshire's record of allowing a Governor only one term by electing John G. Winant. The Democrats presented the same man as their nominee for both United States Senator and Governor. This man was Albert W. Noone, octogenarian. With only 22 of the 294 towns and city wards missing, the vote was: For Senator—Keyes, 65,265; Noone, 46,972. For Governor—Winant, 68,763; Noone, 47,957.

WETS CARRY THREE STATES IN POLL ON DRY LAW REPEAL

Rhode Island More Than 3

ment—Illinois Also Opposes Prohibition.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Three proponents codes to supplement the Volstead act are Illinois, Maryland,

New York, Wisconsin, Montana and Nevada.

Rhode Island voted more than three to one against the dry amendment. Illinois was showing a total of more than two to one on the same question, while Massachusetts voted by an expansive margin to repeal her State enforcement act.

The vote tabulated today was as follows:

Rhode Island—Repeal of eighteenth amendment: Yes, 172,545;
no, 48,540 (complete).

Illinois—Repeal of eighteenth amendment: Yes, 721,118; no, 226,- 391. Modification of Volstead act:
Yes, 68,540; no, 223,167. Repeal of State enforcement act: Yes, 725,- 012; no, 151,302.

Massachusetts—Repeal of State enforcement act: Yes, 590,028; no, 333,326.

States now having no enforcement codes to supplement the Volstead act are Illinois, Maryland,

Nevada.

Biggest Wet Victory in Ohio.

The anti-prohibition forces made one of their biggest raids in Ohio, birthplace of the Anti-Saloon League. Robert J. Bulkley, Cleveland Democrat, advocate of repeal of the eighteenth amendment, won over Senator McCulloch, Republican prohibitionist. He will be the first dry law opponent Ohio has sent to the Senate in eight years.

In other senatorial contests where prohibition figured, the antis elected James Hamilton Lewis in Illinois against the "personally dry"
Ruth Hanna McCormick, and sent Marcus A. Coolidge, Democrat, to victory in Massachusetts against William M. Butler, Republican supporter of prohibition.

Secretary of Labor Davis, regarded as a dry, won in Pennsylvania over Sedgwick Kistler, Democrat-Liberal-Repealist. Senator Hastings, Delaware, Republican incumbent opposed to tinkering with the dry laws, defeated Thomas F. Bayard, Democratic repealer. Senator Walsh, Democrat, and prominent dry leader, beat his Republican opponent in Montana. Judge Al-

J. Galen, a modificationist, and Congressman Dickinson, Republican, who was claimed by the drys, won over Senator Stock, Democrat, listed as a repealer by the Association of Prohibition.

Other prominent prohibition supporters returned to the Senate included Borah, Republican, Idaho, and Sheppard, Democrat, Texas.

MIKE GIBBONS IS DEFEATED

Former Pugilist Loses in St. Paul Race for Sheriff.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 5.—Mike Gibbons, who used to trim his opponents with his fists when he was a ranking middleweight, took it on the chin in a battle of ballots Tuesday.

His campaign for Sheriff of Ramsey County, which includes St.
Paul, against the incumbent,
George H. Moeller, resulted in a technical knockout for Gibbons, with Moeller gaining a substantial victory. Gibbons' platform was "clean out the gangsters." Moeller retaliated with "they are already cleaned out."

MORROW WINNER, MARGIN SMALLER THAN EXPECTED

Former Ambassador Elected
From New Jersey to Both Long and Short Terms in U. S. Senate.

By the Associated Press.
NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 5.—Dwight W. Morrow, Republican, has been elected United States Senator from New Jersey for both the short and long terms, although by a much smaller plurality than was predicted.

Returns from 2052 of the 2321 voting districts in the State, counted early today, give Morrow 322,014 votes to 227,827 for his Democratic opponent for the full term, Alexander Simpson. For the short term, Morrow polled 270,753 votes to 142,959 for Miss Thelma Parkinson, Democratic candidate.

The vote indicated Morrow's margin would fall below the 250,000 to 200,000 predicted for him by his supporters prior to election day.

Stormy weather and the assumption by many Republican voters that easy victory was assured their candidate were the reasons given by party leaders for the shrinkage of Morrow's expected plurality.

Victory Conceded Early.

Although his Democratic opponents led him in three industrial counties in early returns, the certainty of Morrow's success became apparent soon after the count was begun. Shortly after midnight Representative Mary T. Norton, Democratic State vice chairman, conceded the Republican candidate's election.

Morrow entered the race for the Senate while still Ambassador to Mexico and opened his campaign for the nomination soon after his return from the London naval conference, while he was still大使.

He entered the primary campaign with a declaration for repeal of the eighteenth amendment and restoration of state control of liquor. He won the nomination by an impressive plurality over former Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen and Representative Franklin W. Fort.

The prohibition issue did not figure in the campaign for election, as Simpson and Miss Parkinson ran on anti-prohibition platforms.

Fills Edge's Short Term.

The short term to which Morrow was elected is the unexpired term of Senator Walter E. Edge, who resigned to become Ambassador to France.

Partial returns in the congressional elections indicate that Republicans have captured seven of New Jersey's 12 seats in the House, an increase of three.

The decision on three bond issues was in doubt as the count progressed with the $3,000,000 highway proposition running slightly behind on returns from a third of the districts. A $10,000,000 State institution construction issue and the $7,000,000 water supply issue had only small margins in favor of their adoption.

FLOYD GIBBONS TO MAKE TWO TALKS HERE TOMORROW

Two addresses dealing with his experiences as a newspaper war correspondent will be presented in St. Louis tomorrow by Floyd Gibbons, author and radio speaker, who will appear at the Chamber of Commerce luncheon at Hotel Jefferson at noon and on a radio program sponsored by the Public Service Co. over station KWK tomorrow night.

Included in Gibbons' adventures as a war correspondent for the Chicago Tribune were visits to Mexico during the Villa revolution in 1915, to the World War battlefront, Bolshevik Russia, the Sinn Fein rebellion in Ireland, and several revolutionary campaigns in Germany. He served aboard the Cunard liner "Laconia" when it was torpedoed off Ireland in 1917, and lost an eye at the battle of Chateau-Thierry.

His appearance on the Public Service Co. program will be as master of ceremonies in initiating the first of a radio series on "Episodes in St. Louis History," at 7:30 p. m. Reservations for 1000 persons to hear his address at Hotel Jefferson are being made.

Casting One Vote Costs $1.27.
NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—In one Times Square election district, Charles H. Tuttie, Republican gubernatorial candidate, blanketed his opponent, Gov. Roosevelt, to 90 percent. Schneider, the only representative in the district, which has a large daytime population, marked his ballot for the Republican nominee, according to the official count. Schneider's vote cost the city $1.127.45. The other lone voter in Manhattan evened the situation. Joseph Stanek cast his ballot for Gov. Roosevelt.

Parochial School Health Tests.
The Catholic School Health Bureau gave more than 2000 children in 16 parochial schools of the city health examinations last month, according to the report of the Rev. James P. Murray, superintendent of the parochial schools of the arch-diocese. Visits were made to 279 homes and 150 children were sent to medical and dental clinics.

Rochester Boats Daylight Saving.
By the Associated Press.
ROCHESTER, N. Y., Nov. 5.—Daylight saving time was defeated in a referendum here by a majority of 1107.

OHIO GOES FOR DEMOCRATS IN VICTORY FOR WETS

Bulkley, Advocate of Repeal, Elected Senator —
G. O. P. Loses Five Seats in Congress.

LONGWORTH HAD A CLOSE CONTEST

George White, Ex-Democratic National Chairman, Chosen Governor in Landslide.

By the Associated Press.
COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 5.—Ohio has gone Democratic on the United States Senatorship, Governorship, and increased the Democratic representation in the lower House of Congress. It also has gone wet to a certain extent, the first time in many years.

Robert J. Bulkley, Cleveland Democrat, an advocate of repeal of the eighteenth amendment, who defeated Senator Roscoe C. McCulloch for the successor two years of the late Senator Frank B. Willis, will be the first anti-prohibitionist Ohio sent to the Senate since former Senator Atlee Pomerene retired in 1922.

The state's wet tendency also is further emphasized by the defeat of several dry Republican Congressmen. Congressman John C. Speaks, Twelfth (Columbus) District, lost his seat to Arthur P. Lamneck, prohibition repeal advocate, by an overwhelming majority.

Three House Contests in Doubt.

Apparently 13 Republicans were elected to Congress and eight Democrats, with one seat still in doubt. Among the defeated Republicans were G. Fitzgerald, Charles J. Thompson, John G. Speaks, Joe E. Baird and William M. Morgan. In the present Congress there were only three Ohio Democrats.

Even Speaks, Nicholas Longworth had a close race with his Democratic opponent, John W. Patterson, son of a former Ohio Governor. Longworth had a lead of 3045 with only 18 precincts unreported. Patterson is wet.

Gov. Cooper went down in the Democratic landslide, losing to George White of Marietta, former chairman of the Democratic National Committee, by an apparent decisive majority. White was leading Cooper by more than 104,000 votes in 8507 precincts out of 985, and his majority continued to increase as additional precincts were tabulated.

BULKLEY INCREASES LEAD.
Bulkley had piled up a plurality of 167,956 in 8507 precincts and his lead continued to increase.

Possibility of both houses of the State Legislature also having Democratic majorities was indicated as county after county reported election of Democrats. Both branches have been overwhelmingly Republican for several years.

Election of Bulkley to the Senate makes the fifth Senator that has served in the term of the late Senator Frank B. Willis, which expires March 4, 1933. Succeeding Willis was Cyrus Locher, Democrat, by appointment. Locher was succeeded by the late Theodore E. Burton by election. Burton was followed by Senator Roscoe C. McCulloch by appointment and now McCulloch yields to Bulkley.

The election of George White as Governor will bring to the State executive mansion probably the youngest "first lady" ever to occupy that position in the State's history.

She is Miss Mary White, 24-year-old daughter of the new Governor. Miss White is the eldest of the Governor-elect's five children and by virtue of that position assumes the place of "first lady." The Governor's wife died a year ago. Her father is a native of Elmira, N. Y. He worked in the oil field of Pennsylvania and then joined the Klondike gold rush. White and his partner discovered gold, but soon returned to the United States.

The new Governor has served several terms in Congress.

PROFITS OF 9000 GROCERS ATTRIBUTED TO CO-OPERATION

President of Organization Says They Are Under Contract to Obey Rules.

More than 9000 independent grocers scattered over the country formed an alliance that made their profits this year, despite business depression, 45 per cent greater than last year. J. Frank Grimes, president of the Independent Grocers' Alliance of America said yesterday in an address at Hotel Statler before the marketing congress of the Independent Oil Men of America.

Their success, Grimes said, was due to co-operative buying, uniform marketing and display methods and the fact that contracts they signed, made their compliance with rules of the alliance, compulsory.

Members of the alliance are in 27 states and last year their sales amounted to $500,000,000, he said. Members pay $2.50 a week as dues and this sum covers administration and national advertising costs.

G.O.P. IN ST. LOUIS WINS EVERY RACE FOR LEGISLATURE

Elects Three Senators and 19 Representatives Displacing Four Democrats Chosen in 1928.

Republican voters made a clean sweep in the State Legislative contests, electing three Senators and 19 Representatives in the St. Louis districts all by substantial majorities.

In the Fourth District, four Democratic Representatives, elected in the Al Smith St. Louis victory of 1928, were replaced by Republicans. In other districts, two Senator and nine Representatives were re-elected.

The results:

State Senators.
Thirty-first District—William F. Depelheuer (Rep.), incumbent, 7,842; John Trantina (Dem.), 5,978.

Thirty-second District—William Maffitt Bates (Rep.), incumbent, 19,999; James L. Wren (Dem.), 11,440.

Thirty-fourth District—Edwin Nolte (Rep.), 27,312; Joseph A. Broderick (Dem.), 15,222.

State Representatives.

First District—Elected: Louis C. Hehl, incumbent, 26,134; Robert F. Miller, incumbent, 25,858; Walter C. Ploosier, 25,910; George W. Williams, incumbent, 25,980. Defeated: Louis C. Barbaglia, 14,920; J. Lon Elder, 15,170; Lawrence John Fontana, 15,017; Ira C. Williams, 14,885.

Second District—Elected: Harry C. Praechter, incumbent, 11,698; Clifford C. Rens, 11,693; Alvin A. Wolff, 11,703. Defeated: M. J. Edward Hartman, 7,64; Louis J. Ziegler, 7,67; Frank Zykan, 7,645.

Third District—Elected: Frank W. Clark, 16,228; George D. Fluehr, incumbent, 17,553; Albert A. Huber, incumbent, 16,673; Joseph L. Lemon, 17,549. Defeated: William Warren Burke, 15,094; John G. Burkhardt, 12,401; Joseph Slay, 13,200; John Soutice, 12,136.

Fourth District—Elected: Carl H. Goerner, 15,332; Louis A. Riener, 15,221; William R. Schneider, 15,286; Joseph J. Schultz, 15,209. Defeated: Edward M. Brady, 10,562; Thomas M. Byrne, 10,607; William J. Johnson, 10,640; Con J. O'Brien, 10,708.

Fifth District—Elected: Joseph W. Davies, incumbent, 25,324; O. J. Papke, incumbent, 25,131; Jones H. Parker, incumbent, 25,077; Charles E. Schaffner, 25,098. Defeated: William Jack Capps, 14,453; Robert E. Delany, 14,435; David W. Fitzgibbon, 14,887; Joseph B. O'Neill, 14,494.

ALL DEMOCRATS BUT THREE WIN IN BUTLER COUNTY, MO.

Poplar Bluff District, Normally G. O. P., by 2000. Elects Opposition by 300.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.—POPLAR BLUFF, Mo., Nov. 5.—A Democratic landslide, the first in Butler County in a quarter of a century, swept all Democratic candidates except three into office yesterday. Robert L. Copas was elected Circuit Judge for Butler and Ripley counties with a majority of about $500 over Charles T. Bloodworth, Republican. Both reside here.

For Representative Willis H. Meredith, Democrat, was elected over W. E. Morrison, Republican. P. G. Haag won over Charles Fenney for presiding judge of County Court by 800 majority. John S. Phillips, Democrat, who passed the bar examination only last spring, was elected Prosecuting Attorney over Byron Kearby, Republican, $115 to 232.

The only Republicans elected were D. B. Deem for Probate Judge, Edgar Hammons for County Collector and Elben Palmer for County Clerk. All succeed themselves. Joseph Hayes, Republican, who has served 12 years as Recorder of Deeds, was beaten by George H. Seifert, Democrat, 5,344 to 2,867, the largest majority polled by any Democrat.

William McGuire, Republican, was defeated for re-election as Circuit Clerk, 4,162 to 3,900. McGuire has served in that capacity for 12 years.

While Butler County is normally 2000 Republican, it went Democratic for the leading State offices by nearly 300 votes.

BORAH RE-ELECTED IN IDAHO, BUT GOVERNOR IS DEMOCRAT

Republicans Name All Other State Offices, With Exception of Lieutenant-Governor.

By the Associated Press.
BOISE, Idaho, Nov. 5.—Election of C. Ben Ross, Democratic candidate for Governor, and his Democratic running mate, G. P. Mix, candidate for Lieutenant-Governor, appeared to be the outcome of yesterday's election, which placed Republicans in all remaining State elective offices.

Senator William E. Borah, seeking re-election, continued to pile up a large lead over Joseph Tyler of Emmett, Democratic candidate. Congressmen Burton L. French, First District, and Addison T. Smith, Second District, also increased their totals over Democratic opposition as returns from scattered districts were received.

Whether the Democratic Governor would have the support of a Democratic Legislature is in doubt, with returns complete from less than a third of the counties.

ROOSEVELT VICTOR IN NEW YORK BY RECORD LANDSLIDE

Re-elected Governor by 724,000 Plurality Over Tuttle, and Carries 42 Upstate Counties.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York has been re-elected by the biggest landslide in the history of the State. His plurality is around 724,000. The entire Democratic State ticket was victorious with him.

Roosevelt carried New York City by the unprecedented plurality of 585,868 and also carried up-State New York, unbroken Republican territory for a generation. His vote up-State was almost equal to the combined vote of Charles H. Tuttle, the Republican candidate, and Robert P. Carroll, the independent dry candidate.

With 96 precincts missing of a total of 8397, the vote was: Roosevelt, 1,759,260; Tuttle, 1,024,643; Carroll, 178,152.

Carroll's vote exceeded 175,000 and that of Louis Waldman, Socialist, with returns incomplete, appeared to be nearly 150,000.

State Ticket Triumph.
Lieutenant-Gov. Lehman topped Senator Roosevelt's plurality in New York City with 607,147 over Senator Caleb Baumes, and carried the State by approximately 575,000.

Considering that the drys who voted for Carroll were supporting Baumes also, Col. Lehman's run was more remarkable than Roosevelt's. Comptroller Morris S. Tramaine and John J. Bennett Jr., Democratic nominee for Attorney-General, carried the State by about 250,000 each.

Gets 42 Upstate Counties.
Gov. Roosevelt carried 42 out of 51 upstate counties, most of which have been unchallenged Republican territory for a generation.

Roosevelt carried Buffalo, Rochester and Syracuse, strongholds of formidable Republican organizations, by substantial pluralities, and carried also a dozen other cities, from Binghamton through Oneida and Watertown.

At 8:40 o'clock last night Tuttle conceded his defeat and sent the following telegram to Gov. Roosevelt:

"I congratulate you most heartily on your unprecedented victory in this State and wish you and your administration all success."

Until yesterday the largest plurality for a candidate for Governor was the 585,000 by which Alfred E. Smith beat Nathan L. Miller in 1922.

In the State Assembly the Democrats made a net gain of six seats, but remained in the minority. They will hold 70 seats in the next Legislature to 80 for the Republicans.

REPUBLICAN DEFEATS STECK FOR SENATOR FROM IOWA

Candidate of That Party Also Elected Governor. Wet Ahead in One District.

By the Associated Press.
DES MOINES, Ia., Nov. 5.—Iowa remained true to Republican traditions yesterday, choosing a Senator, a Governor and all its State officers from that party's ticket.

The only defections apparently were in the Second District Congressional race, where a Democrat led with returns nearly complete, and in the State Legislature, where the Democrats made strong gains. Representative L. J. Dickinson, with six terms of service in the House, was elected to the Senate, defeating Senator Daniel F. Steck, Iowa's first Democrat in the upper branch of Congress in 70 years. His majority in 1532 of 2422 precincts was 47,000.

Dan W. Turner of Corning, advocate of a State income tax, was swept into the Governorship by a two to one majority over Fred P. Hagemann (Dem.). He carried with him all other Republican State candidates.

With a few precincts missing in the second Congressional district, Ben M. Jacobsen of Clinton (Dem.), led Representative F. D. Letts (Rep.). Jacobsen campaigned for the repeal of the eighteenth amendment. Letts remained silent on the prohibition question.

Other Republican Congressmen apparently were returned, including the veteran G. N. Haugen, and a Republican was chosen to succeed Dickinson.

ART OF RAPID READING

Columbia U. Professor Says 130 Books Can Be Read in a Year.
NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—A fast reader—and almost anybody can become one by trying—can read 130 books a year, Prof. Walter B. Pitkin of Columbia University avers.

Any fairly intelligent reader can teach himself to read at least half again as rapidly as he does the professor declares in a book on the art of rapid reading. If he will spend two hours a day reading, he can read 12,960,000 words a year. An American with moderately good eyes, the professor says, can read 40 books a year. A well-balanced mental diet of this scope would, he suggests, include eight light books, 17 of average difficulty, 19 of solid reading and five requiring close study.

LOUISIANA O K'S BOND ISSUES

Elects Two Democrats With G. O. P. Congressional Opposition.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 5.—By overwhelming majorities, Louisiana electorate yesterday adopted the eight constitutional amendments and elected the two Democratic candidates for the House of Representatives who had Republican opposition. The other six Representatives were re-elected without opposition, as also was Gov. Huey P. Long, who was elected to the United States Senate.

The constitutional amendments included provisions for issuance of $75,000,000 bonds against anticipated gasoline tax revenue for 12 years for the construction of paved roads and bridges; to authorize New Orleans to issue $5,000,000 bonds for a new Statehouse.

Youth demanded it. The Town-Sports mode inspired it. I. Miller ingenuity provided the flair...and now the Cuban Heel is a correct and youthful fashion for every about-town activity!

But like every other vogue, there are varying degrees of correctness for varying occasions—for varying individual needs. There are low, "squatty" Cuban Heels for spectator sports; hi-low Cuban Heels for wear with formalized tweeds; military Cuban Heels for youthful business women; and swanky "walking" Cuban Heels for the brisk morning stroll.

To each of these various phases of the Cuban Heel mode, I. Miller has given his energies and resources in typical I. Miller fashion. The result is a Cuban Heel showing off amazing vigor and virility of style—every slipper in the vast array possessing that inimitable distinctiveness so long associated with every I. INDEPENDENT IN OREGON WINS RACE FOR GOVERNORSHIP

J. L. Meier, for Public Development of Power, Defeats G. O. P. Nominee, Taking Opposite View.

By the Associated Press.
PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 5.—Julius L. Meier, who ran as an independent on a platform favoring development of water power by the public as opposed to private interests, today was conceded victory in the Governorship race in Oregon over Phil Metcalf, Republican, who supported private development, and Edward F. Bailey, Democrat.

Returns from about half the State showed Meier leading Metcalf about two to one.

The race in the First Congressional District between Representative Hawley, Republican, and W. A. Delzell, Democrat, is still in doubt. In 322 precincts out of 859, Hawley had 20,840 and Delzell 17,115. Hawley is one of the authors of the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill.

Representative Franklin W. Krell, Republican, was defeated by Charles H. Martin, Democrat, who favored a referendum on the eighteenth amendment.

Representative Robert R. Butler was re-elected over R. E. Bradford, Democrat.

DRIVERLESS AUTO INJURES

THREE PERSONS ON SIDEWALK
Flings Them Against Plate Glass Window; Owner Cranked
Car in Gear

Three persons were injured, one of them seriously, last night when a driverless automobile threw them against a plate glass window at 1231 Franklin avenue. They are Carlo Bozzi of 911 High street, cuts and internal injuries, and Anthony Cesare of 911 High street, and Harry Cohen of the Grand Central Hotel, Sixth and Market streets, cuts and bruises.

The automobile, belonging to Angelo Colonna, living in West Ramona Park, St. Louis County, had stalled at High and Gay streets, and Colonna, alighting to crank it, had left it in gear. It started down the street and struck another automobile which had stopped. Mrs. Fannie Goldberg, 1392 Granville place, a passenger in the runaway machine, jumped out. Continuing, it upset a sidewalk mailbox at Franklin and High and flung the three men against the window of a cigar store.

Colonna was charged with having an improper State license, no city license, felonious wounding and careless driving.

'Other persons injured in automobile accidents were Mrs. Anna Kondula of 3322A Iowa avenue, who was struck by a truck in a safety zone at Seventeenth and Washington avenue, yesterday afternoon, and Vito Moceri, a retired grocer of 936A Bates street, who was struck in front of 829 Bates street, by a machine driven by Paul Carlton of 2318 South Jefferson avenue. The driver of the car which struck Mrs. Kondula left the scene. Both Mrs. Kondula and Moceri suffered fractured skulls.

NORRIS ELECTED IN NEBRASKA;
BRYAN AHEAD FOR GOVERNORSenator Defeats Hitchcock by About 50,000; Congressional Race in Doubt.By the Associated Press.
LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 5.—United States Senator George W. Norris (Rep.), whose party reneged on the issue of the Nebraska campaign, was apparently elected over George M. Hitchcock, former Senator. Returns from 1416 out of 2040 precincts give: Norris, 184,785 and Hitchcock, 120,077. Mrs. Beatrice Fenton Craig, Independent, had 7261.

The Omaha World-Herald, Hitchcock's newspaper, before midnight, conceded that Norris would win by about 50,000.

While the Republican State ticket as a whole had a wide margin for election, the Republican Governor, Arthur J. Weaver, was trailing former Gov. Charles W. Bryan (Dem.) by 4564 in returns from 1472 precincts.

Congressman Fred G. Johnson (Rep.) lost former Congressman A. C. Schallenberger (Dem.), in the fifth District, and Congressman Charles H. Sloan (Rep.) was trailing former Congressman John N. Norton (Dem.) in the First.

In the Second District, where both candidates had expressed dissatisfaction with the dry laws, the contest was in doubt. Malcolm Baldridge (Rep.) was leading Edward R. Burke (Dem.) by a slight margin.

GORE AND MURRAY

WIN IN OKLAHOMA

Democrats Sweep State in Landslide and Elect 7 of 8 Congressmen.

By the Associated Press.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Ok., Nov. 5.—Oklahoma has returned to its status as a Democratic State. Election returns piled up leads for the party's candidates from United States Senator down to minor State offices. For the first time in a decade, both of its United States Senators in 1931 will be Democrats. Both of the congressional seats lost to the Republicans in the Hoover landslide of 1928 appeared to be retrieved by the Democrats, leaving only one Republican seat out of the total of eight.

W. H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray scored a triumph over Ira A. Hill in the race for Governor. Murray appeared to be amassing an unprecedented plurality.

Thomas P. Gore, blind man, one of Oklahoma's first Senators, was elected to the Senate over W. B. Pine, incumbent Republican.

torney, died next. John D. Weir of Libby, Democratic candidate for Assessor of Lincoln County succumbed a few days before election.

An accidental shooting during a chase for bank robbers took the life of Sheriff Frank S. Metzel, veteran Republican nominee in Madison County.

The Democratic ticket of Silver Bow County for the lower house of the State Legislature suffered the loss of one of its members in the death of Sam Kinville.

Last night, as the counting of ballots started, John E. Moran, unopposed Republican candidate for County Clerk in Cascade County, died after holding the office 16 years.

HOSPITAL, FISHING PREMISES; AT LABRADOR PORT BURNED

All Patients Escape; Heat Damages Wireless Station Mile From Fire.

By the Associated Press.

ST. JOHNS, N. F., Nov. 5.—

Battle Harbor, situated on the Labrador coast, was swept by fire yesterday. The Granfell hospital was destroyed as well as the fishing premises belonging to Baine Johnstone and containing winter supplies. No loss of life was reported.

The hospital had but a few patients, all of whom escaped.

A wireless station a mile from the fire was put out of commission by the intense heat, which burned off the wireless mast. Temporary repairs were made today.

New York Hires 1000 More Men.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—The city today added 1000 men to its clean-up and odd-job payroll, bringing the total to 2900 on the emergency unemployment relief list. The task before the squad is to tidy vacant lots, playgrounds and parks.

DEMOCRAT SEEKS SENATE VICTOR IN MINNESOTA

Hoidele, Norwegian-Born, Leads Schall by 19,000, First to Get Office by Election Since Civil War.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 5.—For the first time in its history Minnesota today had a Farmer-Labor Governor, Floyd B. Olson, and probably had elected a Democratic Senator.

Einar Holdale, Norwegian-born Democratic candidate for the Senate, had a lead of 19,058 over Thomas D. Schall, blind Republican incumbent, with nearly two-thirds of the vote tabulated. Election of Holdale would be the first for a Democrat since the Civil War. For two months in 1900, Democrat held office by appointment, and the State's first Legislature chose two Democrats in 1853.

Olson, Farmer-Labor candidate for Governor, forged rapidly ahead of Ray P. Chase (Rep.), and the latter issued a statement conceding victory.

Returns from 1001 precincts out of 3705 gave Olson 134,336 votes and Chase 90,952. Olson had the endorsement of Senator Henry Shipstead, Farmer-Laborer, who triumphed in 1928 by a landslide over the Republican opponent. He was the only candidate Shipstead endorsed during the campaign.

Many Republicans and a majority of daily and weekly newspapers adhering to that party, supported Holdale. Schall was attacked for opposing the world court; for voting for increases in naval appropriations, and for having joined with forces during the last Congress which opposed the program of the national administration.

Holdale, while an ardent supporter of Governor Smith in the 1928 presidential campaign, centered his campaign on an attack of Schall's record, and in a direct invitation for Republican support pledged that he would refuse to join in any program "to embarrass President Hoover," but promised, instead, to support the President in "any constructive program benefiting Minnesota." He emphasized the proposal for a nine-foot channel for the Upper Mississippi throughout his campaign.

Present Congressional representatives, nine Republicans and one Farmer-Laborite, led in indecisive returns, while Republicans led for minor State offices, with a possibility that one of the closest contests will be for Lieutenant-Governor, with John Hogen, Republican, and Henry Arens, Farmer-Labor, running evenly.

FIVE WOMEN BACK IN HOUSE

One Other Race in Doubt and Two Not Running.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—More than half the present woman membership of eight in the House were away: Rogers, Massachusetts; Pratt, New York, and Kahn, California. Mrs. Pearl Peden Oldfield, Arkansas, did not stand for re-election, but will serve until March 4 with a new woman member from that State. Mrs. Effie Gene Wingo, elected to take her late husband's place, Mrs. Ruth L. McCormick, the eighth woman member, was defeated in her race for the Senate. Returns for Langley, Kentucky, were not complete today. Fred A. Hartley Jr., 27-year-old "Baby" member of the House, was re-elected.

CANDIDATE HELD FOR SLANDER

Minnesota Congressman Causes Arrest of His Opponents.

By the Associated Press.

RED WING, Minn., Nov. 5.—F. H. Shoemaker of Red Wing, Farmer-Labor candidate for Congress from the Third District, was arrested last night by a Deputy Sheriff on a charge of criminal slander. Shoemaker was released on his own recognizance.

Congressman August H. Andrensen was the complaining witness. During the campaign, Shoemaker charged Andrensen with graft in selling cement to the Government for construction of the Hastings (Minn.) Government dam.

SENATOR HARRIS, GEORGIA, WINS

By the Associated Press.

TULSA, Okla., Nov. 5.—Georgia voters re-elected United States Senator William J. Harris for a third term and the Democratic State ticket headed by Richard B. Russell Jr. for Governor was elected without opposition. Voting was comparatively light. Returns indicated a vote of three to one against the proposed amendment to the State Constitution to permit a tax levy on income. A statutory income tax is already on the statute books.

VETERAN LEGISLATOR STRICKEN

By the Associated Press.

TULSA, Okla., Nov. 5.—Bird McGuire, who as a representative from Indian Territory introduced in Congress the bill to make Oklahoma a State, was in a serious condition in a Tulsa hospital today from a stroke of apoplexy suffered Monday night while making a political speech at Cleveland, O.

ROOSEVELT WINE HOME DISTRICT

By the Associated Press.

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 5.—Gov. Roosevelt's landslide hit even his home district, which he carried, 488 to 232. It was the first time he carried it. In 1928 he lost it as a candidate for Vice President and in his first race for Governor two years ago.

$100,000,000 IMPROVEMENTS APPROVED IN LOUISIANA

Gov. Long's Program Includes Building of State House at Baton Rouge.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 5.—Gov. Huey P. Long's $100,000,000 public improvement program provided for in eight constitutional amendments was approved by the voters of Louisiana yesterday by overwhelming majorities.

The largest vote was cast for amendment No. 1 creating $68,000,000 for paved roads and bridges and bonding part of the present gasoline tax. Other amendments provided for issuance of $5,000,000 of bonds to build a new statehouse at Baton Rouge and authorized communities to grant a five-year tax exemption to new industries.

By heavy votes, Gov. Long's two allies, Paul Maloney and J. O. Fernandez, were elected to the House of Representatives over their Republican opponents in the Second and First Districts. Fernandez will displace Representative James O'Connor and Maloney will take the seat of Representative J. Zach Spearing, the incumbents failing of renomination in the Democratic primary.

Gov. Long was elected to the United States Senate, defeating Senator Joseph E. Ransdell without opposition in the general election. The six other Democratic members of the House also were elected without opposition.

Vapex breaks up a cold swiftly and surely—yet it is as pleasant to use as perfume

It is pitiable to see a child with a cold. His nose running, his breathing labored. And it's silly to allow a cold to grip a child.

For colds can be checked at the start. Just put a drop of Vapex on the handkerchief or blouse during the day, and a drop at each end of the pillow at night.

Vapex is safe, swift, and sure. It dries up sniffles, clears the head and promptly relieves colds.

WALSH RE-ELECTED

IN MONTANA OVER WET REPUBLICAN

Democrat Returned to Senate — 468 of 1493 Precincts Give Him 38,194, Galen 24,445.

By the Associated Press.

HELENA, Mont., Nov. 5.—Thomas J. Walsh, who forced investigation of the Teapot Dome and Elk Hills naval oil leases, was returned to the United States Senate by Montana voters. Winner in perhaps the most arduous of his four campaigns, Senator Walsh, a Democrat, early today was leading his Republican opponent, Judge Albert J. Galen, by more than 15,000 votes with 468 of the State's 1493 precincts reported. Walsh had polled 35,194 votes, Galen 24,445. Walsh's election was conceded by Republican headquarters.

In conceding Walsh's election, five hours after the polls closed, J. D. Scanlan, chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, ascribed Galen's defeat to reaction from economic depression. Prohibition, he said, "cut no figure."

Galen was wet while Walsh, a dry, had promised to abide by the wish of the voters on prohibition.

With almost half the precincts in the first district reported, Congressman John M. Evans, Democrat, was almost 4000 ahead of his Republican opponent, Mark D. Fitzgerald. Congressman Scott Leavitt, Republican, held similar margin over Tom Stout, Democrat, in the Second District.

SINCLAIR LEWIS
WINS NOBEL PRIZE
FOR LITERATUREAmerican Novelist Gains Palm Which Carries With it $46,350 Money Award,
Highest in its History.AUTHOR OF 'BABBITT' AND 'ELMER GANTRY'Works Have Been Translated Into Swedish—Announces He Will Accept
"High Recognition."By the Associated Press.
STOCKHOLM, Nov. 5.—Sinclair Lewis, the American author, has been voted the Nobel prize in literature for 1930.The award was based on "Babbit," which is considered in Sweden to be Lewis' best work, but it was understood that "Elmer Gan-try" and "Dodsworth" also played some part in the committee's decision.Lewis was among American authors prominently mentioned for the 1930 Nobel prize in literature this year sets a new high record of $46,350. This increase is due to the strength and increased value of bonds of Scandinavian countries, in which the Nobel funds are invested.Theodore Dreiser also was prominently mentioned.Among the best-known books of Lewis are "Main Street," published in 1920, which brought him into international notice; "Babitt," in 1922; "Arrowsmith" in 1925 and "Elmer Gantry" in 1927.Even since the publication in Swedish of "Main Street," Lewis' books have been widely known here. Among other of his books which have been translated into Swedish are, "Elmer Gantry," "Mantrap," "The Man Who Knew Good," and "Arrowsmith."Novelists Happy to Accept Prize and "High Recognition."
By the Associated Press.NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Sinclair Lewis will use the proceeds of the Nobel prize for literature to support "well-known young American author and his family" in a manner that will enable him to continue writing, he announced today. He did not mention any names.The author, who in 1926 refused to accept the Pulitzer prize award for the best novel presenting "the whole atmosphere of American life and the highest standard of American manners and manhood," for his book "Arrowsmith," expressed gratification at the award today."You may state that I will accept this award," Lewis said. "I am happy to learn of this high recognition."Lewis' publishers said today that the total sales of his five most recent best sellers were 1,300,000. Of these, "Main Street" reached 525,- 000 and "Elmer Gantry" 300,000.
"Arrowsmith" went to 150,000 and
"Dodsworth" 100,000.HUNT AHEAD FOR 7TH TERM
AS GOVERNOR OF ARIZONA
Democrat Made Campaign on Opposition to Boulder Dam Project.By the Associated Press.
PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 5.—George W. P. Hunt, (Dem.) six-times Governor of Arizona, on the basis of election returns today appeared to have defeated the Republican incumbent, John C. Phillips, who in 1928 won the Governorship from Hunt. The incoming vote was: Hunt, 29,228, Phillips, 26,211.Hunt campaigned for tax reform and more militant opposition to the Boulder Dam project.DORAH TO TAKE PAY INCREASE
By the Associated Press.HOISE, Idaho, Nov. 5.—Senator William E. Borah will accept his $10,000 salary as Senator when he begins his next term in office March 4.He made this statement in reply to a direct question, only after he was assured that his election was a certainty by a plurality of probably three to one. The Senator declined during his present term to accept an increase in salary from $7500 to $10,000 voted by Congress on the ground he was elected by his constituents to a job paying the lesser sum. "I do not feel that I could accept an increase in good faith without giving them an opportunity to express themselves," he said at the time.

SHIFTS PARTIES, WINS ELECTION

SHENANDOAH, Ia., Nov. 5.—Frank Cockrel, "dirt farmer," beaten in the primary for the Republican nomination to the State Senate, won that office in the general election as Democrat.He defeated R. L. Wilson, Republican nominee, by 1500 votes.

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles; that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the people, never shrink from the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news; always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy, or predatory poverty.

Mr. Baer and Zionism.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

A note with reference to the British policy in Palestine appeared in your issue of Oct. 24. I don't doubt that Harold Baer speaks for himself when he takes exception to a heading that appeared in the Post-Dispatch. His conclusions do not at all harmonize with the true facts.

The entire Jewish press, without exception, as well as all Jewish organizations, including Zionists and non-Zionists alike, feel not only that the Jews were "offended," but, to use an expression of one of our great Jewish leaders, "betrayed."

The new British policy in Palestine does not express the sentiment of the British people. Former Premiers Stanley Baldwin and Lloyd George and eminent men like Gen. Smuts, Chamberlain, Amery and Churchill have plainly stated that Lord Passfield did not represent the true spirit of the British people. If Mr. Baer took the trouble to read the Simpson report and some of the references made therein, I do not doubt that his assertions would not have been so sweeping.

As for the Jews, this is not a matter for the Zionists alone. If the Zionist movement has any weaknesses, I think that these weaknesses must have been obvious to the British Government long before the White Paper was issued.

Lord Reading, Sir Herbert Samuel, Dr. Chaim Weizmann, Felix Warburg represent, I believe, much better the sentiment of Israel in this important issue than Mr. Baer.

Gov. Frank G. Allen of Massachusetts, commenting upon the British attitude, said: "The civilized world will not condone the attempt to dishonor the Balfour declaration." This matter is of much more importance than what Mr. Baer believes as the difficulty of creating a Jewish homeland. The Jews were in Palestine long before the Arabs. They are there now as of right, guaranteed by international law. The Jews of the world are deeply interested in this vital question, judging by the united front that has been created among the various situations. The desire of the Jew to return to his homeland is more than 2000 years old. There are 170,000 Jews in Palestine whose rights must be protected. The Jews do not come to Palestine as "immigrants" but rather as men and women who return to their homeland.

I am a Jew, too, and for that matter one that was born in America. I studied in our American schools and love everything that is American. I cannot, however, see why Mr. Baer, a Jew, should feel offended when his own race is being subjected to injustice. It would be the human thing for him to join the leaders of Jewry and help in improving the situation. There is a Jewish will to rebuild a homeland, and I am sure that the British Government will soon realize that its new policy will be rejected.

That Destroyed Liquor.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

In the very face of poverty, destitution and acute suffering, about $35,000, in the shape of high-grade liquor, was smashed up and dumped into the city sewer. Had this liquor been put up at auction for the benefit of charity and to relieve distress, it would have realized anywhere from $35,000 to $50,000. Say what they will, this liquor has a ready market and under certain conditions a legal use. The money realized, no matter what its source, would have been a blessing to many thousands.

Who Should Pay for Gravos Widening?

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

OUR Mr. Muench may be entirely correct in stating that the law was observed in the Gravos widening and condemnation proceedings, but there is no law that is any better than good common sense.

A system whereby the bills or taxes could have been sent out about the first of June, so as not to come in conflict with the tax bills, the water license, and other sundry taxes which is the property owner's duty to pay this time of the year, could easily have been arranged.

In the future, if there is any project of this kind, it would be a good policy to arrange to have the bills payable on the first of June instead of sending them all out at the same time of the year. Such distribution would let the property owner have a little relief.

I really cannot understand how the committee that made the benefits came to an understanding as to the territory benefited by the widening of Gravos. This is a mystery to me and many others, as it seems that no discretion was used, it merely being the object of the committee to have the bill paid by as many as possible, so as to lighten the burden.

It is in the case, why not have everyone pay, as in the bond issue? Then the cost will be negligible, and no complaints would be had, as everyone will derive benefits equally from a project such as this.

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH, WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 5, 1930.

A POPULAR REVOLT.

Not since 1918, when they overruled Mr. Wilson's plan for a Democratic Congress, have the people of the United States revolted at the polls in an off year as they did yesterday.

The Democrats have narrowly missed capturing both Houses of Congress. The immensity of such a turnover may be appreciated when it is recalled that in the present Congress the Republicans have a House majority of 103. Nevertheless, the outcome is not surprising. Hard times are always disastrous to the party in power. The Republicans only lessened their chance to retain control of Congress in a hard year by passing the Hawley-Smoot tariff. From that day their power was in the balance.

The extent of the revolt was such as to affect even state and local elections. As the great Hoover wave of 1928 carried everything with it, the revolt of yesterday from Republican rule resulted in Democratic Senators and Congressmen from states which have seldom gone Democratic and Democratic Governors and legislators where Republicans have ruled for so long that their dominance had become a convention. The victory of Gov. Roosevelt of New York was terrific. It put an emphasis upon popular sentiment of the times which is far from a good augury for Mr. Hoover in 1932.

The people's revolt everywhere was an impressive exhibition of representative government in full play, an instance in which democracy functioned as it has not often done in any country. The Democrats can claim little more for themselves than that they are an opposition party through which the people chose to express their resentment of conditions. This is the province of an opposition party, exactly the reason why no free people should ever be without one.

Nor was the revolt of the people entirely economic. It was to a great degree moral. The prohibitionists, who have imperiled the very structure of the Government, took a terrible drubbing at the hands of the people. The extent of the disaster which they suffered will not be known for some time. In Illinois the liquor issue combined with the arrogant efforts of Mrs. McCormick to buy a seat in the United States Senate to elect James Hamilton Lewis by a plurality of some 600,000. The state liquor laws seem to have gone down with the cause itself. Mr. Morley, who set the courageous example of coming out flatly for repeal of the eighteenth amendment, was also elected by a huge majority in New Jersey. The only conspicuous dry survivors are those who, like Walsh of Montana, Borah of Idaho, Pinchot of Pennsylvania and Norris of Nebraska, are indispensable to liberal government despite their dryness. The wet bloc in the next Congress is estimated at 150 votes. Massachusetts repealed her State enforcement act. Illinois and Rhode Island voted for repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

In St. Louis the Republican organization swept everything before it. If there was a revolt from Republican rule everywhere in the country the voters of St. Louis know nothing about it. They went to the polls and elected the entire Republican judicial slate, the Republican candidate for Prosecuting Attorney and all the Republican candidates for municipal place. The Democratic judicial candidates recommended by the St. Louis Bar Association, together with the Democratic candidate recommended by the Bar Association for Prosecuting Attorney, failed with the rest. Judge Rosecan, elected Prosecuting Attorney, nevertheless ran some 16,000 behind the head of his ticket. He was unfit for the place, but in attempting to say so the people lacked that emphasis which characterized their repudiation of Howard Sidener as Circuit Attorney two years ago. It was a mistake, and one for which St. Louis will suffer.

All the proposed amendments to the State Constitution and seven of the nine amendments to the Charter of St. Louis, as well as all proposals under the campaign, went down with a bang. The Republican city organization has denied that it gave the word to murder them wholesale, but the result belies that disavowal. There were some good proposals in the lot, some which, like the excess condemnation proposal, were essential to progress. The voters made no such discrimination. Whether it was the merger and its ponderous amendment to the Constitution or the proposal to limit employees of the Legislature to 150 and stop the rat hole at the pie counter, they suffered alike. It is likely that all efforts to defeat any of them were wasted. They defeated themselves. Whether asked to vote against them or not, the voter could not feel that, faced by such a sheaf of proposals, he knew what he was doing if he voted yes.

The insurance companies did not come out into the open under their own names at any time during the campaign, but they worked through the St. Louis and Kansas City chambers of commerce, the Associated Industries and other organizations which they could influence to go to bat for them. The low point in their campaign was an advertisement published in the St. Louis newspapers last Monday entitled "Danger!" and signed only by "Missouri Committee Keep the State Out of Business." In that they collected all their bugaboos to frighten the voters, although the proposition, far from offering any "danger," was only a well-needed measure of social justice to workmen injured in the course of their employment and to the dependents of workers who are killed.

The insurance companies will be in business in Missouri for a long time, and they will come to regret their present successful effort to kill a useful, progressive piece of legislation affecting only one of the several score of lines of commercial insurance now being sold. The defeat of Proposition No. 4 by no means ends the fight. It was only the first act. There will be sessions of the Legislature and other elections at which this worthy proposal can be discussed. The people will meanwhile continue to learn more about the merits of the plan and the unfair practices which have driven so many other states to this reform.

Looks like Old Dame Democracy will have all the family back for Thanksgiving this year.

SCULPTOR OF THE SOUTH.

In the chapel at Washington and Lee University lies the marble figure of a sleeping soldier. The right arm rests across his chest and the fingers of the left hand lie where they have fallen on the sword hilt. Visitors speak softly as they stand before the prostrate form. Art students study the expression of character on the sculptured face. It is the recumbent Lee, a work which in itself would entitle Edward Virginia Valentine to a place of prominence among American artists.

A consistent advocate of commercialism the 92-year-old sculptor, who died the other day in his beloved Richmond, belonged to the old classicism of the South. When he was a boy in Richmond, Edgar Allan Poe was there editing the Southern Literary Messenger. Lectures by Dickens and Thackeray to Virginia's aristocracy, he remembered them, and the songs of Jenny Lind. Thomas Jefferson, Stonewall Jackson, Jefferson Davis, Jeb Stuart, Albert Sidney Johnston—heroes of the South, were likewise his heroes and the subjects of his statues. Not the least interesting thing about the white-haired old classicist was the fact that he kept a diary continuously from 1857—from the year of the Dred Scott decision and the laying of the first Atlantic cable, through the Civil War, the Reconstruction, the decades known as Victorian, through Roosevelt and the world at war to Lindbergh and Little America. A daily account for nearly three-quarters of a century. What a diary it could be!

THE COMMUNITY FUND'S INDIGNATION.

An advertisement of the Community Fund published in yesterday's newspapers over the signatures of Ethan A. H. Shepley, president, and Sidney Maestre, chairman of the ninth annual campaign, was a severe rebuke to wealthy persons in St. Louis who are failing to give their fair share of the cost of reviving conditions among the poor. It cited four or five individual cases of niggardliness and commented upon them in a tone of righteous indignation. Something like this was badly needed to arouse a certain type of St. Louisian from his self-satisfied torpor.

We are facing a winter which promises to be one of great distress. Already signs of public unrest and dismay over the necessary problem of food, clothing and shelter are apparent. The demonstration at the city hall the other day is a harbinger of what is to come unless the thousands of unemployed in St. Louis are protected against eviction and starvation. Certainly at a time like this it is the wealthy who must bear the burden. According to income tax figures only 3.6 per cent of St. Louis paid an income tax for 1929 and only about 2 per cent paid taxes in excess of a nominal sum. If this 2 per cent does not contribute to the Community Fund in proportion to its income the drive will fail. It is futile to expect the sum of $2,200,000 to be made up of pittance from families who now have all they can do to make both ends meet.

Messrs. Shepley and Maestre have shown courage in a great crisis. They will be applauded for it by the community. St. Louis has long been in need of leaders like this who are not afraid to talk out in meeting, no matter whose toes they tread upon.

WILD AND WOOLLY.

The unkindest cut in all the heated arguments for and against the city-county merger was uttered at the last minute. An election day advertisement calling for the defeat of Proposition No. 5 described it as a "wild plan" to spread municipal government over St. Louis County's "mountainous wild lands." How that gentle characterization of the virgin tracts beyond the city limits must have rankled the cliff dwellers at Eureka and Glencoe. Did the opponents of the merger have no thought for the feelings of the bushmen on the barren escarpments of the Meramec? Surely the rude pioneers who live by trapping and hunting in the wilderness along the Missouri rapids are not so insensitive that they missed the innuendo. "Mountainous wild lands." By the wolves and bears of Fox Creek, what a remark that was!

A DISGRACEFUL CAMPAIGN.

The insurance companies won their fight against Proposition No. 4, but in doing so they added nothing to the luster of their arms.

The methods they employed were for the most part beneath contempt. They at no time during the campaign condescended to discuss the proposition on its merits. They did not dare to tell the people of Missouri why they should not set up a State insurance fund under the workmen's compensation act, as 17 other states have done, because the argument is all on the other side. Instead they resorted to such timeworn bugaboos as that Proposition No. 4 would put the State in business, that the success of the proposition would be the opening wedge of Government ownership. The voters at large were not told by the insurance companies the truth of the matter; namely, that State compensation insurance is only a necessary complement to the workmen's compensation act.

The insurance companies did not come out into the open under their own names at any time during the campaign, but they worked through the St. Louis and Kansas City chambers of commerce, the Associated Industries and other organizations which they could influence to go to bat for them. The low point in their campaign was an advertisement published in the St. Louis newspapers last Monday entitled "Danger!" and signed only by "Missouri Committee Keep the State Out of Business."

"LET THE OTHER FELLOW GIVE."

Post-Mortem on the Market Crash

Bankers' consortium, widely praised as "saviors of the market," saved only themselves, then let brokers and buyers bear burden of panic; short sales a minor part of transactions; time has shown absurdity of Hoover, Cabinet and industrialists' cheery statements; real cause in exaggerated idea of country's prosperity.

Burton Rascoe in the New Republic.

THE great Hoover panic began about 11 o'clock on the morning of Thursday, Oct. 24, 1929. On that morning, because of the number of stocks that had become valueless on which the banks had loaned money to brokers and dealers, and because of the number of stocks which had depreciated in value below the lending value established by the banks, there was probably not a large bank in New York City that was not technically insolvent. Banks, brokers, investors, speculators speak of "real" or "intrinsic" value of stocks and bonds. These are mythical terms. All market values are relative and governed by opinion. The value of any commodity or anything at any time is precisely what you can get for it. Its value is established at the given moment of exchange, even if at the next exchange its value shifts markedly up or down.

After the panic had been raging for nearly an hour, officials of four New York banks, summoned by Thomas W. Lamont, somewhat ostentatiously entered the impressive square building occupied by J. P. Morgan & Co. and went into extraordinary session with Mr. Lamont.

At 1:15 that afternoon, Richard Whitney, then known as a floor trader for the Morgan firm, walked to the post where United States Steel was traded and bid 205 for 25,000 shares. A moment before Steel had been selling at 193 1/2. That was the first indication to the public that the bankers had taken steps to "bolster up the market." Immediately the rest of the market responded to the action of the bankers' consortium.

The stock market gained some heart and started advancing, with an occasional "technical reaction," reaching its peak last March. It had been aided periodically by statements from President Hoover or members of his Cabinet saying that business was on the upgrade and unemployment on the decrease.

Finally the absurdity of these statements in the face of known facts began to be seen even by the speculators and holders of securities. Anyone with the reasoning power of a low-grade moron knew that a sinister situation existed—due to the fact that a great number of smaller interior banks were loaded with "frozen securities" and that a great many brokerage houses had been forced to carry their biggest customers, with accounts running into the millions, at their own risk because they could not afford to sell these customers out. (Here be it remarked that the "sucker," the small trader with limited capital and resources, who raised money to protect their accounts, thinking everything was going to be all rosy again. The rally continued through the day.)

The action of the bankers' consortium was kept pretty much a secret. What actually happened Mr. Lamont recalled the following January. He said in effect that the banks had saved themselves from clos-

Too Much Regulation Now

From the Lowell (Mass.) Courier-Citizen.

ONE had hoped that Hon. Ruth Bryan Owen was to be an improvement on the political acumen revealed by her lamented sire, but there is small warrant for believing that she is such in her demand for a Cabinet officer to have Federal jurisdiction over the home and child. May an all-wise God deliver us from any further Federal espionage and ballyhooing than we have now in matters of private and domestic conduct.

As I write, there is a lot of ballyhoo in the newspapers about short selling. On Nov. 11, 1929, the Stock Exchange sent out a questionnaire to brokers regarding the commitments on the short side on their accounts. When the returns were in, it was revealed that the short committee was less than one-eighth of 1 per cent of the total commitments. It would have been a miracle if the market had been any more.

Lately there was a report that something was to be done about short selling or bear raiding. That is as sensible as if the Casino at Monte Carlo made a ruling that people couldn't play the roulette any more, they would have to play the black. Short selling is a necessary corollary to trading on the long side. Stop short selling, as President Whitney pointed out, and you prevent a free and open market for securities and Wall Street would have to close up shop. That might not be a bad idea, but if it did, a lot of other things would have to close up too, including the Government at Washington.

The "experts" on finance, the amateur economists and the financiers were for a long time engagingly varied in their opinions as to why the crash occurred. There is one school of great thinkers who said that the cheap money of the Federal Reserve Board was responsible for the market boom and sequentially for the crash—a bit of cerebration that is positively dazzling—especially since the Federal Reserve discount rate for months has been lower than it has ever been in Federal Reserve history and this has created no conspicuous boom. Other great thinkers laid the panic to the multiplication

Neglected

HAYM SALOMON AND THE REVOLUTION. By Charles Edward Russell. (Cosmopolitan Book Corporation, New York City. $3.50.)

THIS is the first attempt to present a book-length biography of the Jewish broker and merchant of Philadelphia whose services to the cause of the American Revolution undoubtedly entitle him to a place of honor in our history that has not, as yet, been accorded to him.

Haym Salomon was a Polish Jew who arrived in New York in 1772, and, setting up in business there as merchant and broker, soon became well-to-do. Passionately devoted to the cause of liberty as a result of his education in his native land, he took an active part in the revolutionary activities of the day, was imprisoned by the British authorities, escaped to Pennsylvania, where in a surprising short time he managed to accumulate a fortune estimated at something like $300,000. Mr. Russell adds plenty of evidence to show that Robert Morris, as Superintendent of Finance for the Colonies, depended largely upon Salomon's aid in raising the funds necessary to the prosecution of the war, and that, in addition to this gratuitous service to his adopted country, Salomon contributed freely to the support of various distinguished patriots, and was never reimbursed. He died insolvent in 1785, being then 45 years old, leaving his family impoverished.

It was not until 1846 that an attempt was made—by his son—to induce Congress not only to recognize his services but to repay a large sum owed to his estate by the Government. "Ten times," says Mr. Russell, "between 1846 and 1925 his career of public service was considered by the Congress of the United States. Six times committees of the House or of the Senate, or both, investigated the story" and reported favorably. But nothing further was ever done about the matter.

Although it is reasonable to suppose that racial prejudice has figured in the story of neglect, it seems remarkable that Mr. Russell's highly creditable enthusiasm for the cause of justice should have led him to adopt a contentious pro-Jewish, anti-Nordic tone when only a pro-human attitude was required for his purpose.

ROADS TO ROAM. By Hoffman Birney. (Penn Publishing Co., Philadelphia. $1.50.)

Hoffman Birney had roamed the roads—at least from Tucson to Grand Canyon, the Mojave Desert, Yucca, through the Sierras and across Nevada, Idaho and Montana, returning by way of the Colorado Rockies, the Navajo Reservation and Rainbow Bridge, taking photographs all along the way, he wrote a sprightly narrative of the trip to go with the United States, designed primarily for high-school classes.

EUGENE O. SANGUINET DIES AFTER OPERATION

Vice-President of Chemical Firm Organized 131st Field Artillery During War.

Eugene Oberly Sanguinet, vice-president and sales manager of the William S. Barnickel Chemical Co. and member of a pioneer St. Louis family, died yesterday at St. Anthony's Hospital after he had failed to rally from an operation performed last week. Mr. Sanguinet, who was 58 years old, had been in health for two years but attended to his affairs at the chemical company until a few weeks ago.

During the World War he organized the 131st Field Artillery at Houston, Tex., and served overseas with the rank of Major in the Thirty-sixth Division. He was a member of Battery A, Missouri National Guard, for 24 years and an veteran of the Spanish-American war.

During the World War he became associated with the late William S. Barnickel, inventor of a process for the reclamation of emulsified oil, and was one of 10 associates who were beneficiaries to share in future profits of the company under the will of Barnickel, who died in 1922 just as his discovery was reaping a fortune. Barnickel left an estate inventoried at $845,780.

Ancestors of Mr. Sanguinet were among the signers of the document which officially established the "village of St. Louis" when it was but a trading post. His great-grandmother was Mary Conde of the famous Grande Conde family, who married Charles Sanguinet, an early settler here.

Besides his widow he is survived by seven brothers: Marshall R. L. Conde, Frank H. Benoit, William M. Alexis G., and M. Paul Sanguinet.

Funeral services will be conducted at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow from his residence, 227 Papin avenue, Webster Groves, to the Church of Our Holy Redeemer, 347 East Lockwood avenue, Webster Groves. Burial will be in Calvary Cemetery.

CLARE CLAIRBERT, BELGIAN SOPRANO, SINGS AT ODEON Assisted by Pianist and Flutist; Generous With Her Encores.

One more triumph was added to the successful tour of Mme. Clare Clairbert, coloratura soprano from Belgium who is in this country for the first time, when she sang at the Odeon last night as the second program of the Civic Music League Series.

Her reception by the St. Louis audience was fully as enthusiastic as that in other cities which have hailed her since she arrived in New York a few weeks ago. It was possible to wish, however, that she had chosen a program of wider range. Repeatedly recalled by applause, she was very generous with her encores.

Mme. Clairbert was assisted by Francis de Bourgignon, pianist, and Eugene Leon, flutist. Her opening number, "Variations," by Proch, she sang to the accompaniment of a flute obligato.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

THE fragrance of American beauty roses greeted the guests who called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Harris Wagner, 3 Moorland drive, this afternoon to be introduced to their daughter, Miss Margaret Ellen Wagner, who made her formal debut at a tea given by her mother.

Mrs. Wagner and her daughter received their guests before the fireplace in the living room, where palms and red roses with white chrysanthemums were combined in clusters. The colors were emphasized in more of the blossoms arranged in other rooms on the lower floor of the house.

Miss Wagner wore a gown of eggshell faille silk, made in princesses, with red roses outlining the shoulder straps, and a huge bow of American beauty velvet fastened at the waistline in the back. She carried an armful of American beauties.

Mrs. Wagner was gowned in black chiffon velvet, with a yoke of rhinestones, and wore a shoulder corsage of orchids.

The reception table in the dining room, where a group of the debutantes presided, bore a central decoration of red roses, illuminated by white candles in silver canisters.

The young women serving were Miss Jane Perrin, Frances, Miss Louise, Augusta, Goddard, Miss Jane Blackmer, Miss Melissa McKay, Miss Julia Rogers, Miss Alice Hallott, Miss Irene Williams, Miss Jane Allen Connell and Miss Mary Elizabeth Costigan.

His complete name is Nils T. Granlund, a slim young Swede, whose eyes are in a perpetual blink. He neither smokes nor drinks and leisure hours are spent on his wooded acres near Ramsey, N. J., 25 minutes from Times Square.

He began his career as a sports editor in Providence and branched into the peculiar breed of exploiters at side line he staged floor shows in Broadway cabarets. And with the birth of the radio launched that horror—introducing "celebrities" in cafes.

N. T. G. is happily married to a drowsy lady who is with him constantly. When nearly all Broadway was closed, he opened his home on Edgewood drive.

He engaged expensive jazz bands, presented a dinner hour and midnight girl show and at least a half dozen girls were seen at his home.

He was a guest of Mary Gottsberger, daughter of Mr. J. B. Gottsberger of the Gatesworth Hotel, to Clinton Karst, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Karst, 6904 Washington boulevard. The marriage took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. Koken, 364 Jefferson road, Webster Groves, with the Rev. Father Kraig, of our Lady of Lourdes Church, officiating.

The bride was a gown of white georgette and d'ancor lace. Her veil was of Brussels net and lace that fell into a train. She carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley in colonial style. The bridesmaids, sisters of the bride, and Miss Jane Keen, were frocks of brown lace and carried arm bouquets of orange and red chrysanthemums tied with large bows of orange satin.

The groomsmen were Fred Price and John Rieffing of St. Louis. The schools for more than 50 years, who died yesterday at her home, 2723 Russell boulevard, will be held at the Schnur Undertaking Co., Chapel, 3125 Lafayette avenue, at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Burial will be in Bellefontaine Cemetery.

Miss DeCamp, who was 74 years old, was born and educated in St. Louis. More than 40 years of her teaching was done at Hodgen School, 2748 Henrietta avenue, from which she retired last June due to the condition of her health. She had previously served at Madision School. None of the members of her family survives.

MADISON COUNTY GOES DEMOCRATIC, LEWIS SETS PACE

Peter Fitzgerald Wins Sheriff Contest With Gambling as Issue — Mounds Country Club to Reopen.

IRWIN IS AHEAD IN CONGRESS RACE

Mrs. McCormick Trails by 17,659 Votes in District That Is Normally Republican.

Madison County, Ill., usually Republican by a majority of about 50,000, went Democratic in yesterday's election by majorities ranging from 2000 to 17,000 and showed its decidedly wet tendencies. It gave Lewis for United States Senator and, in the most stirring county contest, chose Chief of Police Peter Fitzgerald of Alton (Dem.), as sheriff.

The race for Sheriff was intensified by controversy over gambling and dog racing. Gambling has been notoriously open in Madison County, and some citizens have sought to elect a Sheriff who would stop it. The Mounds Country Club, which was closed early last August, "became the heat" of the most widely known gambling establishment. It was announced today that it would reopen tomorrow. The Kingfisher Kennel Club, a dog race track, was closed by court order a few days later and for about the same time the Madison Kennel Club has not been operating.

Sheriff-elect Fitzgerald made no promises, except that he would "enforce the law." Joseph A. Raffaele of Edwardsville, defeated Republican nominee, likewise made no promises. Formerly he was bandmaster at the Madison Kennel Club. There was an independent candidate backed by some reform elements, J. F. Witherow, former Chief of Police of Wood River, who had been second in the primary race for the Republican nomination and who promised reforms as a gambling.

Fitzgerald Wins by 5000. Complete, unofficial returns from the 88 precincts give the following results in the race for Sheriff: Fitzgerald, 21,951; Raffaele, 16,342; Witherow, 944.

Madison County voted so heavily against prohibition on the three questions of public policy touching on repeal of the eighteenth amendment and the State prohibition law and modification of the Volstead act that precinct officials dropped the unofficial tabulation. The wet lead over the dry was two to one. The other propositions, on jury service for women, amending the banking laws, issuing bonds for forest preserves and recreation grounds and redistributing the tax burden, all lost in this county.

Senator-Elect Lewis received 28,243 votes to 10,581 for Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, the Republican, and only 458 for Mrs. Little Holman O'Neill, the independent. Dr. Ed. M. Irwin of Belleville, Republican incumbent as Congressman from the Twenty-second District, which covers five counties, got 18,244 votes for re-election in Madison County, against 17,657 for Charles A. Karch of East St. Louis, Democrat.

Other Returns in County. The complete returns for county offices were:

County Judge—Wilbur A. Trues, Democratic incumbent, 24,500; Perry H. Hills, Republican, 14,077.

County Clerk—Joseph Hotz, Democratic incumbent, 23,312; Earl E. Herring, Republican, now County Treasurer, 16,662.

Probate Clerk—John B. Copinger, Republican incumbent, 16,251; George P. Smith, Democrat, 15,588.

Circuit Clerk—Simon Kellermann Jr., Democrat, now Deputy Clerk, 29,128; Robert C. Cunningham, Republican, incumbent by appointment to a vacancy, 15,152.

County Treasurer—William T. Baird, Democrat, whose name had to be written on the nomination ballot in the primary, 20,678; Otto H. Hermann, Republican, now Sheriff, 15,791.

Superintendent of Schools—F. M. Scott, Democrat, principal of the Roxana Schools, 21,845; J. E. W. Miller, Republican, incumbent, 15,572.

State Senator, Forty-seventh District (Madison County portion, Bond County also in district)—James O. Monroe, Democrat, editor of the Collinsville Herald, running on a "very wet" platform, 22,622; Robert W. Tunnell, Republican, 14,955.

State Representatives, Forty-seventh District (Madison County portion, Bond County also in district, three to be elected)—Schaefer O'Neill, Democrat, 25,788; Charles V. Malley, Democrat, 27,518; Schuyler B. Vaughan, Republican, 25,209; William H. Martin, Republican, 23,334.

The Madison County vote on State offices was:

State Treasurer—Edward J. Barrett, Democrat, 21,158; Clarence F. Buck, Republican, 15,480.

Superintendent of Public Instruction—Eva B. Batterson, Democrat,

OBSCURE WAR VETERAN, TWO YEARS IN HOSPITAL, NEW ILLINOIS TREASURER

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—HE misfortune and fortunes of Edward J. Barrett, a war veteran, apparently elected State Treasurer, the title among the victors.

Barrett is an unknown. He was not selected by the Democratic leaders for the office.

After the war he had spent two years in a hospital recovering from wounds. He was down and almost out when he left the hospital. He got a job as secretary to Mike Corcoran, head of the street sweepers' union. Corcoran is an old partner of "Big Tim" Murphy, who served as term for mail robbery.

The Democrats selected a downstate banker, Zachariah, for State Treasurer, but Barrett was nominated in the primary. Now he has defeated for the office of State Treasurer Clarence F. Buck, a Republican leader in the State. It was estimated today Barrett's plurality would be 200,000.

20,824: Francis G. Blair, Republican, 16,410.

Congressmen at large (two to be elected)—William H. Dietrich, Democrat, 18,860; Walter Nesbit of Belleville, Democrat, 18,967; Richard Yates, Republican incumbent, 15,582; Frank L. Smith, 13,017.

INDICTED FOR HUSBAND'S DEATH

HARRISBURG, Ill., Nov. 5.—Mrs. Carrie McGuire, 52 years old, of Eldorado, was indicted for the murder of her husband, Harry McGuire, by a special grand jury at Eldorado Monday. McGuire was found dead in his temple Sept. 21 last.

Randolph Bechum, also of Eldorado, was indicted for assault to murder his son, Rayburn, 11 years old, Oct. 9 last. He was charged with hitting the boy over the head with a pistol.

Other county contests were:

ST. CLAIR COUNTY DEMOCRATS GAIN DECISIVE VICTORY

Biggest Landslide for Party in 30 Years With Lewis Leading Mrs. McCormick by 13,047.

The Democratic ticket was elected by substantial majorities in St. Clair County, Illinois, on the basis of unofficial returns this morning from 114 of 165 precincts, including complete East St. Louis returns from 77 precincts. Not for 30 years had the county had such a Democratic landslide, according to the Board of Election Commissioners.

J. Hamilton Lewis, Democratic candidate for United States Senator, led his ticket with 20,856 votes against 7809 for Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, Republican.

Complete returns from East St. Louis on the prohibition referendum were for repeal of the eighteenth amendment and the State prohibition act and modification of the Volstead act. There were 9672 votes for and $100 against repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, and 9669 for and 2848 against repeal of the Volstead act. Returns from 77 precincts, excluding East St. Louis, showed Edward J. Barrett, Democratic candidate for State Treasurer, leading his Republican opponent, Clarence F. Buck, 5516 to 2357. Eva B. Batterson, Democratic candidate for Superintendent of Public Instruction, had 5950 votes, as against 3841 for Francis G. Blair, Republican.

Other Democrats Ahead. In the same precincts, votes for Congressmen at large, two to be elected, were as follows: Walter Nesbit (Dem.) 5552; William Dietrich (Dem.) 5415; Richard Yates (Rep.) 2115; Frank L. Smith (Rep.) 2161.

For State Senator, E. P. Kline (Dem.) had 16,410 votes in 114 pre-

(Dem.), 19,349; W. R. Weber (Rep.) 11,962.

County Clerk: D. A. Prindable (Dem.) 15,683; Ross C. Adams (Rep.) 11,843.

Probate Judge: Joseph E. Fleming (Dem.) 15,277; C. E. Chamberlain (Rep.) 11,376.

Probate Clerk: William Frech (Dem.) 15,246; Henry C. Rosenberg (Rep.) 11,363.

County Treasurer: Edwin M. Schaeffer (Dem.) 16,836; Charles Ahrens (Rep.) 10,199.

Superintendent of Schools: E. H. Runkwitz (Dem.) 14,353; John E. Miller (Rep.) 12,727.

Members Board of Assessors: two to be elected: Edward Helms (Dem.) 15,279; Julie Holton (Dem.) 13,614; Walter Knebeloch (Rep.) 11,440; Dan O'Connell (Rep.) 10,664.

Member Board of Review: Frank P. McKane (Dem.) 15,181; Mabel Redden, newspaper society editor, running on the Democratic ticket, has been elected clerk of the Probate Court.

Indications were that complete returns would leave State's Attorney Lindauer, who still has two years to serve, the only Republican official in the County Court at Belleville.

Charles A. Karch, Democratic candidate for Congressman, Twenty-second District, was having the hardest fight on his ticket. In 114 precincts he was leading Dr. Ed. M. Irwin by 15,226 votes to 12,630.

Returns from 27 of 82 precincts, including East St. Louis, showed Edward J. Barrett, Democratic candidate for State Treasurer, leading his Republican opponent, Clarence F. Buck, 5516 to 2357. Eva B. Batterson, Democratic candidate for Superintendent of Public Instruction, had 5950 votes, as against 3841 for Francis G. Blair, Republican.

Other Democrats Ahead. In the same precincts, votes for Congressmen at large, two to be elected, were as follows: Walter Nesbit (Dem.) 5552; William Dietrich (Dem.) 5415; Richard Yates (Rep.) 2115; Frank L. Smith (Rep.) 2161.

For State Senator, E. P. Kline (Dem.) had 16,410 votes in 114 precincts, as against 10,872 for Ed. P. Petrie (Rep.).

Returns from 114 precincts for Representatives, three to be elected, were: Frank Holton (Dem.) 24,612; Gray Borders (Dem.) 21,599; E. H. Hirschle (Rep.) 18,265; Al Towers (Rep.) 15,629 1/2.

Each voter was allowed three votes in this contest.

As it became evident last night that Democrat would sweep St. Clair County, they started a parade at Belleville, with a band playing the Stein Song and a white mule in the lead.

WALL STREET ELECTION IS FOLLOWED BY QUIET, LOWER STOCK TREND

Difficult to Estimate the Importance of the Democratic Victories as a Market Influence, Owing to Views of Previous Position of Market — Some New Lows on Movement.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Share prices sank into new low ground in a dull market today, with net losses in prominent issues ranging from 3 to 9 points.

The results of election as a market factor were difficult to estimate, owing to the feeble character of the market during the past several days. It was notable, however, that the utility shares were conspicuously weak, and there was a tendency in brokerage circles to attribute this to the victory of candidates favoring strict governmental control.

Shares aggregated only 2,200,000 shares. The market opened uncertainly, and sold almost steadily lower. The last-minute rally which normally results from short covering was almost negligible, recoveries from the low levels ranging from ½ to 1 point.

U. S. Steel, American Telephone and Western Electric sold off about 4 points to the lowest prices in two years. Eastman Kodak dropped 10 to a new low, and closed off 9 net. North American declined 7 to a new low for the year, and closed off 6. American Telephone, Bethlehem Steel, American Power & Light, Electric Power & Light, du Pont, Consolidated Gas, United Gas Improvement, Stone & Webster and A. M. Byers declined 3 to 4, to new lows for the year or longer. American Can, Alr Reduction and Johns-Manville lost about 3. United Corporation, Morgan paper utility holding company, sold off 1½ to 20, a new low for the movement.

Regular G. M. Dividend.

A break of more than 2 cents a bushel in the wheat market carried that grain to new low ground for the season. The Winnipeg and Liverpool markets had declined while the domestic markets were closed yesterday. Corn, however,

Foreign exchanges were irregular. Sterling Cables were quoted at $4.85 21-32, off 3-32. The French franc, however, was in demand, rising 3-16 to 3.92 11-16 cents for cables.

As expected, the regular quarterly dividend of 75 cents was declared after the close of the market by General Motors directors, although the third quarter earnings were less than the dividend requirement.

Ingot Output Down. The most favorable aspect of the day's news was the report of freight car loadings for the week ended Oct. 25, showing a gain of 28,250 cars over the previous week. The total, however, was still the lowest since 1921, and the increase was largely due to an enlarged movement of coal, a seasonal development at this time.

The weekly steel trade reviews, as expected, indicated further curtailment of ingot output. Iron Age estimated production for the industry at 48 per cent of capacity, the lowest since the midyear shutdowns for inventory. Finished steel prices seemed to be holding well, but steel scrap prices sagged further. Petroleum production was again reduced last week, but further price cuts were announced.

The Stock Exchange's report of member borrowings at the end of

MRS. M'CORMICK TAKES HER DEFEAT GAMELY

Victory of Lewis Completes Curious Cycle in Illinois Politics.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—Ruth Hanna McCormick had gamely to hope until there was none left last night and then she tried to be cheerful in conceding victory to James Hamilton Lewis in the Illinois senatorial election.

As night waned and the result became more apparent that the man her late husband, Medill McCormick, defeated 12 years before, had won, Mrs. McCormick continued to hope that belated tabulations from downstate would turn the tide. At midnight came a conference with Republican aids and a congratulatory telegram to Lewis.

The curious cycle of 12 years of campaigning had come to an end. Lewis had defeated the woman who had won the primary preference from the man, Senator Charles S. Deneen, who had defeated her husband, who had won from Lewis.

Mrs. McCormick reached her headquarters early in the evening and for three hours was busy with pencil and telephone receiving returns. She early tossed aside a close-fitting brown hat and soon after removed the coat to her brown tweed suit.

A photographer asked her, "Wait a minute."

"Wait a minute, why, I'll be here until morning," she laughingly replied.

Talks to Will Wood.

Congressman Will Wood of Indiana, chairman of the Republican Congressional Committee, called her on the telephone.

"Oh, my lord, we're just swamped," she told him, and then listened intently while he told her that three and possibly five Republican congressional seats had been snatched away in Indiana.

The next telephone call was Dan Hanna, her nephew, calling from Cleveland. Hanna, publisher of the Cleveland News, had laid aside his Republicanism to endorse the Democratic senatorial candidate in Ohio.

"Isn't it fascinating," his aunt said. "Oh, come on now, what do you call a good majority."

To James J. Davis, Secretary of Labor, and successful Republican

EX-GOV. BREWSTER OF MAINE SUES PORTLAND NEWSPAPER

He Charges Press Herald in Editorial Intimated He Solicited Bribe From Utility Leaders.

By the Associated Press.
BANGOR, Me., Nov. 5.—Former Gov. Ralph O. Brewster, in a suit against the Portland (Me.) Publishing Co., charges publication of an editorial in the Portland Press Herald on Aug. 24, 1929, with intent to cause persons to believe he had "been guilty . . . of the crime of soliciting a bribe."

The editorial, as quoted in the writ, said that Brewster, while Governor, during an interview with Owen D. Young, chairman of the board of the General Electric Co., and Samuel Insull, Chicago public utilities man and principal owner of the Central Maine Power Co., "intimated that he would be friendly with their interests and that everything would be all right here in Maine providing they would use their influence to get support for him in United States Senate and have Mr. Wyman (Walter S. Wyman, president of the Central Maine Power Co.), removed from the Central Maine Power Co. This they refused to do."

Brewster, who was defeated by United States Senator Hale for the party's nomination to the Senate post in 1928, retired as Governor in January, 1929.

candidate for the Senate in Pennsylvania, who called from Pittsburgh, she remarked.

"Just fine and dandy. How are you?"

She Quotes Raskob.

"Oh, don't get mad," she told Richard J. Barr, Joliet, State Senator, over the phone. " Didn't you know Mr. Raskob said happy days are coming? We'll all be singing 'Happy Days Are Here Again.'"

At times throughout the evening Mrs. McCormick seemed weary; her chin quivered, and a trace of mist came to her eyes. But those let-downs quickly passed.

The crowd, party workers, newspaper writers, some friends and those just curious, filtered away as she hoisted the white flag of defeat—the congratulatory telegram to Lewis. But Mark Hanna's daughter was still able to smile when it was all over.

Mrs. McCormick, after sending Lewis a message of congratulations last night, issued a statement saying: "I shall regard it as my first duty to assist as a member of Congress to the utmost of my ability in a solution of the present difficulties which concern our people everywhere."

HENRY J. ALLEN LOSES KANSAS SEAT IN SENATE

Concedes Defeat by George McGill, Democrat—Capper Wins Easily.

By the Associated Press.
TOPEKA, Kan., Nov. 5.—Henry J. Allen, one of the Hoover spokesmen in the United States Senate, today conceded defeat by George McGill, Wichita, Democrat, in a spirited race which was one of the major upsets of the nation's balloting yesterday.

McGill is the first Democrat sent to the Senate from normally Republican Kansas since 1912. In that presidential year, when the Republican party was split, the Democrats elected William Howard Thompson, Garden City.

Allen, seeking to serve out the Senate short term expiring in 1933 which Charles Curtis left vacant when he became Vice President, met defeat, while his Republican colleague, Senator Arthur Capper, scored an easy victory for a third term over former Gov. Jonathan M. Davis, Democrat. Senator Capper's margin, however, did not approach the tremendous vote he piled up six years ago.

McGill Against Tariff Act.

McGill, prominent attorney, is an opponent of the Smoot-Hawley tariff act and has declared publicly he would not vote to seat any Senator who has received either his nomination or election through excessive expenditure of money. He condemned the tariff act as failing to aid the Kansas farmers, while at the same time increasing the cost of living.

Harry Woodring, Democrat, jumped into the lead over Frank (Chief) Haucke, Republican, in the gubernatorial race as the count neared completion late today. With all but 170 of the state's 2674 precincts reported in unofficial returns, the Democratic candidate was leading by 455 votes. In 2504 precincts the vote stood: Woodring (D.), 204,633; Haucke (R.), 204,778; Dr. John R. Brinkley (L.), 168,186.

The Republicans returned seven Representatives to Congress, while Congressman W. A. Ayres, Wichita, Democrat, was re-elected.

In sending congratulations to McGill, Senator Allen said: "There is nothing more fulfilling than the effort of a dedicated candidate to explain his defeat."

Allen Appointed to Senate.

A former Governor, Allen was appointed to the Senate by Gov. Clyde M. Reed, who met defeat himself in seeking renomination in the August primary.

McGill is 51 years old and was born on an Iowa farm. He served two terms as County Attorney at Wichita, also the home of Senator Allen, veteran newspaper publisher.

Laboring centers of the State hit at Allen, who gained national prominence as a post-war Governor in sponsoring the Kansas Industrial Court in an effort to prevent strikes, and he also ran behind in many agricultural districts. As the result of illness the Senator did not make a personal campaign.

VICE-PRESIDENT CURTIS SAYS RESULT WILL SPUR G. O. P.

Prosperity Is "Just Around the Corner" and Dry Law Will Stand, He Thinks.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—Vice President Charles Curtis, on his way to Washington today, said the nationwide victory of the Democratic party in yesterday's election would act as a spur to the Republicans in the 1932 presidential race.

"We expected the Democrats to be disappointed," he said, "but it was we Republicans who were disappointed. However, it will only act as a spur to our party in the drive of 1932—they can't beat us in 1932."

Regarding unemployment and the general business depression the Vice President was emphatic in his prophecy that "good times were just around the corner." He said he did not expect the prohibition law would be changed or repudiated.

Despite the defeat of his party, Curtis was in an unusually jovial mood. Photographers who were snapping pictures of him, asked him to pose reading election returns from a newspaper. "No," he answered, "I'll turn to the sporting page."

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH

SLEEPLESS NIGHTS A PENALTY OF ACIDITY

When you go to bed at night tired and exhausted and still can't sleep and you toss fitfully on your bed all night long, trying first one position and then another, it's almost a sure sign that you are "acid." Acidity, the curse of our modern existence, not only causes acid-indigestion with sourness, burning and gassy fullness, but it plays havoc with our nervous system, making us jumpy, fidgety and so restless at night that we can't sleep, even though we do dog tired.

It stimulates the secretions of the alkaline mucus. It checks peristalsis and fermentation in the intestines. It stimulates the activities of the intestinal walls and aids the natural movement of the bowels. All three effects are necessary to the true relief of acidity, and Magnesia Oxides supply them in a perfectly natural manner.

DR. EDWARDS OLIVE TABLETS

Get at the real cause. That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—inactive liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets help arouse the liver into action, helping way, when the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions. People rarely suffer from indigestion, burning and bowel trouble with undigested food! Try Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

MIMASTER TRAILS IN SOUTH DAKOTA

Gov. Bulow (Dem.), 5000 Ahead of Insurgent Republican in Senate Race.

By the Associated Press.
SIOUX FALLS, S. D., Nov. 5.—Running ahead of the rest of the Democratic ticket, Gov. W. J. Bulow today maintained a lead in South Dakota's senatorial contest.

Senator W. F. McMaster, insurgent Republican incumbent, bidding for a second term, was more than 2000 votes behind Bulow with nearly three-fourths of the State's predicted vote.

A Republic seemed assured of election as Governor Warren E. Green had a lead of more than 10,000 over D. A. McCullough, Democrat.

Representatives Charles A. Christensen in the First Congressional District ran 5 to 1 ahead of Henry Berman, Independent wet candidate.

The other two veterans, Republi- can Congressmen—Royal C. Johnson in the Second District and William Williamson in the Third—were hard pressed as a result, but early returns gave them margins.

BOSTON, Nov. 5.—The theft from a parked automobile of a suit case containing more than $50,000 worth of jewelry and clothing was reported to police last night by Mrs. Charles E. Leigh, said to be prominently social in Minneapolis, Minn.

The chief pieces lost were a breastpin containing 125 diamonds clustered around a large aqua- marine stone and valued at $23,000, and a platinum ring set with sapphires and diamonds worth, Mrs. Leigh said, $18,000.

Prescription ACIDINE Relieves Pain and Distress Quickly

"I suffered from acid indigestion and gas," writes Mr. C. Bedford of Detroit, Mich. "Couldn't eat a meal without being troubled with gas and pain, also dizzy feelings, nothing really helped until I took Acidine. Got relief from the very start. Have recommended Acidine to all my friends."

Thousands are astonished how this prescription ACIDINE succeeds where many other remedies fail. The reason for this is that ACIDINE is a different. Contains an effective scientific digestant, Japtase, that promptly liquefies 800 times its own weight of heavy, starchy food, un-

KANSAS CITY ELECTION CHIEF FREED BY GANG

Head of Jackson County Board Held Prisoner Till Polls Close.

By the Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 5.—Federal Government agents set out today to find the men who kidnapped Rex V. Hedrick, chairman of the Jackson County Board of Elections.

Hedrick, seized yesterday morning as he was motoring from his home in Buckner to the board's office in Independence, was released last night after the polls closed. He had been blindfolded, gagged and injured by the abductors, who overtook him near Ripley, shoved him into their automobile and held him, lashed to a chair, while Jackson County voters cast their ballots and Hedrick's wife began to despair for his life.

Department of Justice operatives, already active in a campaign against election fraud that has resulted in the indictment of four election judges here, questioned Hedrick at length in an effort to obtain clews.

Hedrick demurred at being taken to Police Headquarters. "They said that they would kill me if I went there," he declared. Friends persuaded him to leave for the station, after Mr. Hedrick had been assured of her husband's safety.

The men, Hedrick said, took $20 from him, but he was certain robbery was not their motive.

RITCHIE OF MARYLAND FOURTH TIME A WINNER

Governor's Plurality 63,002—Republicans Lose Two Congressional Seats.

By the Associated Press.

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 5.—The Democratic tidal wave that re-elected Gov. Ritchie for his fourth term in yesterday's election also made the Maryland delegation of six in Congress solidly Democratic, belated returns today indicated.

The Republicans lost the two seats they held. Ritchie's plurality today reached the record total of 63,002.

With Gov. Ritchie the entire Democratic State ticket was swept into office. The outcome extended Ritchie's term to 15 years. This is said to be the longest term for any State Governor on record.

PHILIP LAFOLLETTE MADE GOVERNOR OF WISCONSIN

Polls 3 to 1 Plurality; One Democrat Beats G. O. P. Congressional Lineup.

By the Associated Press.
MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 5.—Philip La Follette will be the next Governor of Wisconsin. With Robert Jr. in the United States Senate, Wisconsin, therefore, in the short space of five years has visited on these two young men the honors it took their father more than 30 years to achieve.

At the age of 33, Philip will assume the office his father first won in 1900—in the Capitol his father built and he will live in the executive mansion where he played as a boy. The voters gave La Follette a plurality of nearly 3 to 1 over Charles E. Hammersley, Democratic nominee for Governor.

The vote, from 2210 precincts out of 2320, gave La Follette 301,115 and Hammersley 31,456.

In the congressional race, one Democrat broke the traditional solidarity of the Republican delegation. Michael K. Reilly, former Congressman, won in the Sixth District over Philip Lehner, Republi- can. In eight of the 11 districts, Republicans were elected, among them Henry Allen Cooper, dean of the House. It was Cooper's sixteenth term. He and the other Republicans are members of the so-called "insurgent" bloc.

Wet Democrat beaten for Governor, Republicans Sure of 12 of 15 Congressmen.

By the Associated Press.
DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 5.—Michigan's Republicanism withstood the Democratic assault in yesterday's election, with the result that, barring an unexpected upset in one congressional district, the political complexion of the State will remain unchanged during the next two years.

United States Senator James Couzens rolled up an impressive lead over his Democratic opponent, Thomas E. A. Weadock, with indications of a majority of 350,000. In 2219 precincts of 3317 the vote was: Couzens, 411,494; Weadock, 103,348.

Returns from 12 of the 13 congressional districts early today were sufficient to insure election of Republi- can. In the Second District the incumbent, Earl C. Michener (Rep.), was 8000 votes ahead in 149 of the 206 precincts.

U. S. Envoy Seeking Solution of Naval Problem Between France and Italy.

By the Associated Press.
ROME, Nov. 5.—Hugh S. Gibson, United States Ambassador to Belgium, returned to Rome yesterday, apparently optimistic after a series of conferences with Italian officials looking toward a settlement of the Franco-Italian naval differences.

What Gibson wants, it was un- derstood, is a solution in which neither nation can claim a diplomatic coup, a solution which would give each nation the ships it needs without the necessity for exorbitant expenditures.

The American Ambassador received assurances that Italy is not

VERMONT GOES REPUBLICAN

Gov. Weeks Elected to Congress From First District.

By the Associated Press.
MONTPELIER, Vt., Nov. 5.—The native State of Calvin Coolidge stood by Republicanism in the election.

Gov. John E. Weeks, Republi- can, was elected to Congress from the First District over Joseph A. McNamara, Democrat. The Demo- cratic candidate, running on a wet platform in a district where the primaries showed there was strong wet sentiment, was defeated by 7000 votes. The entire Republican State ticket won overwhelmingly.

DEMOCRATS GAIN SIX HOUSE SEATS FROM MISSOURI

Late Returns Assure Party of 12 of the State's 16 Representatives in Congress.

Democratic congressional candidates were elected in 12 of the 15 Missouri congressional districts in the election Tuesday, a gain of six seats for the Democrats.

The three St. Louis Congressmen, Henry F. Niedringhaus (Rep.), Tenth District; John J. Cochran (Dem.), Eleventh District, and L. C. Dyer (Rep.), Twelfth District, were re-elected without opposition. Dyer was re-elected for his tenth two-year term.

The Democrats regained seats in the Fifth, Sixth, Seventh, Thirteenth, Fourteenth and Sixteenth Districts, which were lost in the Republican landslide of 1928. The Republicans held the Fourth, Ninth, Twelfth and Fifteenth Districts.

Fifteenth Still in Doubt.

In the Sixteenth District, which had been in doubt on early returns, William E. Barton (Dem.) Houston, is leading Rowland L. Johnston (Rep.), Rolla, by 1604 votes, on returns from 206 out of 232 precincts.

The race was close in the Thirteenth District on early returns, but as returns came in Clyde Williams (Dem.), Hillsboro, a former Congressman, gradually lengthened his lead over C. E. Klefner (Rep.), incumbent, Perryville. Returns from 235 precincts out of 274 gave Williams a lead of 2148 votes.

Dry Wins Only Contest.

The only congressional race in which prohibition was an issue was in the Fourth District, where David Hopkins (Rep.) incumbent, St. Joseph, a dry, defeated R. E. Culver (Dem.), St. Joseph, a wet. With only two precincts missing out of 200, the unofficial returns gave Hopkins a lead of 773 votes.

The wet and dry issue was not raised in Kansas City, although Joseph B. Shannon (Dem.), who was elected Representative in the Fifth District, is classed as a wet.

The three St. Louis Congressmen did not raise the issue in their districts, as they were unopposed.

Results in the other districts follow:

First District—Congressman M. A. Romjue (Dem.), Macon, was re-elected by a majority of more than 10,000 over J. F. Culver (Rep.). Palmerine Romjue has served six terms.

Second District—Congressman Ralph F. Lozier (Dem.), Carrollton, was re-elected over Mrs. Pearl Gehrig (Rep.), Salisbury, the only woman congressional candidate in Missouri. Lozier's lead on incomplete returns was nearly 11,000.

Third District—Congressman Jacob L. Milligan (Dem.)—Richmond, re-elected. Incomplete returns gave him a lead of 8000 over H. F. Lawrence (Rep.), Cameron.

Fourth District—Congressman David Hopkins (Rep.), St. Joseph, a dry, re-elected in a close contest with R. E. Culver (Dem.). St. Joseph, who was considered a wet. On virtually complete unofficial returns Hopkins had a lead of 772 votes.

Fifth District—Joseph B. Shannon, leader of a Democratic faction in Kansas City, defeated Congressman Edgar C. Ellis (Rep.) Kansas City, by a majority of more than 40,000.

Sixth District—Clement C. Dickinson (Dem.), Clinton, a former Congressman, defeated Thomas J. Halsey (Rep.), incumbent, Holden, by more than 4000 votes on virtually complete returns.

Seventh District—Sam C. Major (Dem.), Fayette, a former Congressman, defeated John W. Palmer (Rep.), incumbent, Sedalia. Major's lead was more than 3400 on virtually complete returns.

Eighth District—Congressman W. L. Nelson (Dem.), Columbia, re-elected over E. J. Melton (Rep.) Booneville.

Ninth District—Congressman Clarence A. Cannon (Dem.), Elizabethtown, re-elected over Frank H. Hollmann (Rep.), Warrenton.

Fourteenth District—James F. Fulbright (Dem.), Doniphan, a former Congressman, apparently defeated Congressman Dewey Short (Rep.), Galena. With four-fifths of the precincts reported, Fulbright had a lead of 4287.

Fifteenth District—Congressman Joe J. Manlove (Rep.), Joplin, was re-elected by a majority of approximately 10,000 over Frank H. Lee (Dem.), Joplin.

DOMINION PREMIERS OK NEW ARMS PACT

Treaty is to Be Submitted by Britain to League Commission.

By the Associated Press

LONDON, Nov. 5.—The Prime Minister of the British Empire yesterday took another step toward arbitration and disarmament.

They gave general approval to the proposed Allian arbitration act, to the draft disarmament treaty which Britain has submitted to the preparatory disarmament commission of the League of Nations, and to proposed amendments which seek to bring the League covenant into line with the Kellogg pact with regard to the right to declare war.

The Premiers approved reservations to the Allian arbitration act which would exclude from its jurisdiction disputes in which both parties agree to have recourse to some other method of peaceful settlement, disputes arising prior to the Empire's accession to the general act of arbitration, or relating to arbitration or facts prior to that acquisition.

Inter-dominion disputes also would not come before the tribunal.

It is understood the Irish Free

State does not concur in the returns.

While the meeting of the delegation heads was not unanimous on all points, it was intimated that all were agreed to do everything possible to press forward the cause of arbitration and disarmament.

'MANDATE TO PUBLIC OFFICIALS'

Selection in Order for Action, Says Senator David Walsh

BOSTON, Nov. 5.—United States Senator David B. Walsh (Dem.) in a statement last night said the election returns "express the revolt that has been growing for months against the lack of vigorous leadership in Washington."

"The administration's indifference toward economic conditions and its failure to recognize the widespread opposition to prohibition has been rebuked not only by Democrats, but by millions of Republicans in every part of the nation," the state-

a mandate to every public official to recognize the demands of the people for immediate economic relief and a change in the prohibition law."

Thus you make a full pint of better remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times the cost. It never spoils and tastes so good that even children like it.

Not only does this simple mixture soothe and heal this inflamed throat membranes with surprising ease, but it also cures the common colds which attack directly upon the bronchial tubes, thus aiding the whole system in throwing off the cough. It loosens the germladen phlegm and eases chest soreness in a way that is really astonishing.

There is a highly concentrated compound genuine Norway Pine containing the active agent of croesofol, in a refined, palatable form. Nothing known in medicine is more helpful in cases of incipient bronchitis, coughs and other serious diseases due to colds.

METCALF WINS OVER GERRY IN RHODE ISLAND

Republican Senator Is Re-elected by Majority of Only 2759 Votes.

By the Associated Press.
PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 5.—Rhode Island remained in the Republican column today after one of the closest political fights in her history. United States Senator Jesse Metcalf (Rep.), won by a plurality of 2759 votes over his Democratic rival, former Senator Peter G. Gerry.

With Metcalf will return Republican Congressman Clark Burdick from the First District and Richard S. Aldrich from the Second District, both of whom were re-elected by comfortable margins. The Third Congressional District elected Francis E. Condon (Dem.), to fill an unexpired term and also a full term.

Gov. Norman S. Case (Rep.), was re-elected over Theodore Francis Green (Dem.).

The State went on record by more than 3 to 1 as opposed to Federal prohibition, which it has never ratified. The vote on the latter question, "the eighteenth amendment to the Constitution of the United States—shall it be retained?" was No, 17,245; Yes, 48,540.

The prohibition question had no bearing on the senatorial fight, as both candidates were wet.

ADmits KILLING WOMAN TO GET PAY FROM HUSBAND

Glass Worker Tells Los Angeles Police of Crime; Says He Was Offered $2000 for Deed.

By the Associated Press.
LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 5.—Shortly after arresting Ben J. Brown, 27 years old, Huntington Park glass worker, police said today he admitted slaying Mrs. Merle Ellis of Pasadena, last Sunday, on an offer of $2000 from her estranged husband, Emory, to kill her.

Brown signed an alleged confession and was held on charges of murder and robbery. He said he did not know at the time that the woman was Ellis' wife.

Mrs. Ellis was found dead in her bed from shotgun wounds. Her 18-months-old son, sleeping beside her, was uninjured. An investigation showed she had been at odds with her husband, but when he was arrested he gave proof that he had been at work the night of the slaying.

Police then began an investigation of his friends and arrested Brown.

Brown was quoted as saying Ellis declared the woman had an incurable disease, which he was afraid the child would contract.

"By arrangement," Brown said, he found a shotgun and ammunition near the garage of Alfred Ellis, the husband's brother, who is a State constable. Police reported Brown confessed he entered the woman's house with a pass key, lost his nerve and fled, drove around awhile, then returned and shot the woman.

The glass worker declared all he got of the promised $2000 was two indictments.

Emery Ellis, confronted with the confession of Brown, confessed he had offered Brown $2000 to kill his wife.

FOUR KILLED IN KENTUCKY ELECTION DAY DISORDERS

Near Barbourville Magistrate Slays Man and Is Shot to Death by Victim's Son.

By the Associated Press.
LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 5.—Election day disorders in Kentucky resulted in the deaths of four men and the wounding of two others.

Boyd Bingham, Democratic Magistrate, shot and killed Hampton Smith and was slain in turn, officers said, by Smith's son, William, who was wounded in the foot but escaped. The shooting occurred on Stinking Creek, near Barbourville, the home of United States Senator Robison and Gov. Sampson.

The fight resulted, officers said, after Bingham challenged the elder Smith's right to vote.

Ward Hatfield was slain at Phelps in Pike County and Elias Dotson was arrested for murder. Officers said an old feud flared anew in the heat of election day campaigning.

Booker Wright is sought for the shooting of Adam Cotter, a former Deputy Sheriff, at Elkhorn, after an election quarrel.

Ed Doneghy, Negro, was shot and killed at Danville by Joseph Hayden, Democratic election officer, who said he fired in self-defense when the Negro, a Republican, appeared at the polling place and announced he had come to settle some trouble."

North Carolina Democrats Ahead.

By the Associated Press.
CHARLOTTE, N. C., Nov. 5.—Josiah W. Bailey, senatorial nominee, and his fellow Democrats seeking House seats, have rolled up impressive leads over their Republican opponents. Bailey, a Raleigh attorney, conquered the veteran Senator F. M. Simmons in the June primary. Representative Charles A. Jonas, Lincolnton, Republican incumbent, was trailing his Democratic opponent Maj. A. L. Bulwinkle, Gastonia, in the Ninth District, while Zebulon V. Weaver, Democrat, Asheville, was ahead of Brownlow Jackson, Republican, Hendersonville, in the Tenth District. These two districts went Republican in 1928.

8 INDIANA DEMOCRATS LEAD IN CONGRESS RACE

Returns Indicate Republicans Will Lose Control of Delegation.

By the Associated Press.
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 5.—Democratic pluralities in contests for State offices in Indiana and for eight of the 13 seats in Congress increased slowly as the count of votes in yesterday's election progressed.

One of the congressional candidates on either ticket, however, —Louis Ludlow, Seventh District Democrat—definitely was assured of election. He was re-elected by a Democratic landslide in Marion County (Indianapolis). He for years was a newspaper correspondent in Washington.

The seven other Democrats led their Republican opponents by an average plurality of 2000. Republicans leading five other districts races held advantages ranging from 100 votes to 1000.

Indiana is represented in the present Congress by 10 Republicans and three Democrats. The incomplete returns indicated the three Democrats would be returned. Other districts in which the party was leading were the First, Third, Fifth, Eleventh and Thirteenth.

Never defeated for public office in almost half a century of political life, Gov. William H. ("Billy") Adams, Democrat, was elected to a third term.

In seven other State office races Democrats held small, but apparently comfortable leads over their Republican opponents.

INDICTED BANKER RETURNS $18,000 TO CITY COUNCIL

Cashier of Defunct Centralia, Mo., Depository Settles Alleged Shortage.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
CENTRALIA, Mo., Nov. 5.—Charles W. Settle, 60-year-old cashier of the defunct Farmers and Merchants Bank here, who is out under $11,000 bond on charges of larceny and embezzlement, yesterday returned to the city council $18,006. The sum settled the alleged shortage in the city's account.

It was in connection with the alleged shortage that the cashier was indicted last month by a Boone County grand jury. Five other counts of the indictment charged excessive loans were made by Settle.

Settle also has turned over his property, including his home here, to meet the shortage at the bank. He is now free under $11,000.

Woman Hurt in Car Fire.

One woman suffered minor injuries when a Broadway street car caught fire in front of 2418 South Broadway yesterday afternoon. At the first noise of smoke from the short circuit beneath the car, the passengers began a hurried exit. Mrs. Julia Steck, 3422 Olive street, was treated for bruises and Mrs. Louise Ploessner of 2632 Lafayette avenue suffered hysteria.

Police then began an investigation of his friends and arrested Brown.

Brown was quoted as saying Ellis declared the woman had an incurable disease, which he was afraid the child would contract.

"By arrangement," Brown said, he found a shotgun and ammunition near the garage of Alfred Ellis, the husband's brother, who is a State constable. Police reported Brown confessed he entered the woman's house with a pass key, lost his nerve and fled, drove around awhile, then returned and shot the woman.

COSTIGAN IS ELECTED SENATOR IN COLORADO

Gov. Adams, Also Democrat, Chosen for Third Term—No Upsets in House Contests.

By the Associated Press.
DENVER, Colo., Nov. 5.—Edward P. Costigan, former member of the Federal Trade Commission and personal representative of President Wilson to European countries in discussion of economic adjustment after the World War, defeated his Republican opponent, George H. Shaw, for the Colorado Senatorial seat now held by Lawrence C. Phipps, Republican.

The count in 1935 out of 152 precincts stood: Costigan, 162,142; Shaw, 124,963.

In the four congressional races no upsets occurred. A close contest in the First District (Denver) saw the Republican incumbent, William R. Eaton, a dry, emerge the dinner over Lawrence Lewis, Democrat.

Congressman Charles B. Timberlake and Guy U. Hardy, Republicans, were re-elected, as was the veteran Congressman Edward T. Taylor, Democrat.

Never defeated for public office in almost half a century of political life, Gov. William H. ("Billy") Adams, Democrat, was elected to a third term.

PEST KEPT OUT OF WISCONSIN

State Inspectors Fail to Find Corn Borer in Border Counties.

By the Associated Press.
MADISON, Wis.—The corn borer has been kept out of Wisconsin this year. E. L. Chambers, chief of the Division of Insect and Plant Disease Control of the State Department of Agriculture and Markets, announces. Inspectors along the Illinois and Michigan borders have failed to find any trace of the insect, he says.

Moths of the corn borer are easily carried 20 to 50 miles on wind currents, chambers reports and says for this reason Wisconsin's corn production is considered a possible entry point.

Spread of the corn borer this year was much less than in previous years, Chambers says. This is attributed to dry weather.

Congressman Drane Wins.

By the Associated Press.
JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Nov. 5.—Representative Herbert J. Drane (Dem.), won from L. E. Womack (Rep.), in the First District of Florida's only Congressional contest, Tom A. The Governor had a three to one lead over his Democratic opponent, Pierce Blewett.

Two of the three Congressmen were re-elected without difficulty, Oscar B. Burtiss in the First District and J. H. Sinclair, Third.

ARKANSAS APPROVES READING OF BIBLE DAILY IN SCHOOLS

Gov. Parnell and All Other Democratic Candidates in State Elected.

By the Associated Press
LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Nov. 5.—Arkansas, on the face of incomplete returns, yesterday approved a constitutional amendment to require the reading of a part of the Bible daily in state schools up to and including high schools.

Gov. Harvey Parnell, Democrat, was re-elected over J. O. Livesay, Republican, and Lawrence Wilson, Democrat, overwhelmed C. H. Harding, Republican, for Lieutenant-Governor. These were the only State offices in which Democratic nominees had rivals. Senator Joseph T. Robinson and all seven Democratic congressional nominees, including Mrs. Ottie T. Wingo, who succeeds her late husband, were unopposed. With Mrs. Pearl Fender Oldfield retiring, John E. Miller, Democrat, was sent to the House from the Second District.

F. L. SMITH ROUTED BY ILLINOIS MINER

Republican, Once Barred From Senate, Loses Race for Congress to Walter Nesbit.

One of the big upsets in Illinois in favor of the Democrats was the lead on late returns shown by Walter Nesbit, Belleville coal miner, over his Republican opponent, Frank L. Smith of Dwight, in the race for Congressman-at-large.

Nesbit is secretary-treasurer of the Illinois Mine Workers' Union and secretary of District No. 12. He was not prominent in politics, but had large following within the ranks of the Illinois miners.

Smith, Republican opponent of Nesbit, was twice appointed and once elected to represent Illinois in the United States Senate, but was barred by the Senate from taking the oath of office.

He had been chairman of Illinois Commerce Commission under former Governor Small, and when it was disclosed that certain Illinois public utility operators, chief among them Samuel Insull, had contributed $20,000 to his campaign fund while he was still head of the Utilities Commission, the Senate refused to admit him. He is a banker and farmer and has served one term in Congress.

21-YEAR-OLD MAYOR CUTS BLACK ROCK, ARK., DEBT

He is a graduate of the Lebanon (Tenn.) Law School. Promising a progressive administration and strict enforcement of the laws, Townsend was elected by a large majority. Since his inauguration into office, the streets have been greatly improved, a new City Hall and jail has been built, and the town debt greatly reduced.

Jane T. Townsend will assume the duties of Deputy Circuit Clerk at Powhatan, but will retain his office as Mayor.

DEMOCRATS IN CLEAN SWEEP IN KANSAS CITY

Margin 40,000 to 55,000 With Only Scattered Returns From County.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 5.—The Democratic party achieved the greatest victory in the history of Jackson County yesterday, making lead in the city campaign last night when Mayor Bryce E. Smith won by 25,000 votes.

Judge Harry S. Truman of County Court, Judge Allen C. Southern of Circuit Court and Judge Jules E. Guinotte of Probate Court were in a close race to lead the Democratic ticket. Truman held a slight edge in the city, with a vote of 91,358, but the Guinotte lead exceeded Truman's. The majorities of these three threatened to exceed 50,000.

Scattered returns from rural Jackson County indicated the Democratic ticket had swept the rural precincts by majorities of 30,000 to 70,000.

The hardest fight was made on Joe Shannon, Democratic nominee for Congress, whose majority exceeded 40,000. With 40 years of office behind him, Shannon had a large majority, running more than 50,000 votes behind his ticket, but rode through on the crest of the wave.

James R. Page, Prosecutor, against whom a hot fight also was made, suffered in some quarters, but his margin of victory exceeded the impressive total of 45,000.

The Democrats took all the legislative offices.

By the Associated Press.

Survey of member preferences.

CONNECTICUT ELECTS YALE DEAN GOVERNOR

Dr. Wilbur L. Cross One of Two Democratic Winners—Tilson Renamed.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 5.—Dr. Wilbur L. Cross, retired dean of the Yale University graduate school, who campaigned for repeal of the eighteenth amendment and against the economic depression, is Governor-elect of Connecticut. The first Democrat to be elected in nearly 20 years, he defeated his Republican opponent, Lieutenant-Governor Ernest E. Rogers, by nearly 6000 votes in yesterday's election. Balloting was light.

The complete unofficial vote was: Cross, 213,786; Rogers, 207,975.

His running mate on the Democratic ticket did not fare so well, and he faces the prospect of taking office with only the Secretary of State of his political faith.

Two of Connecticut's five Congressional seats changed from Republican to Democratic hands. In the First District, former Congressman Augustine Lonergan, Democrat, was chosen over Col. Clarence W. Seymour, Republican, who was seeking the place of E. Hart Fenn, retiring incumbent. With only one vote missing, Judge William L. Tierney of Greenwich, Democrat, has a majority of more than 2000 over Congressman Schuyler Merritt, who was first elected in 1917, in an exciting race in the Fourth District. Tierney's election seemed assured.

Theodore Bruere Jr., 26-year-old State Attorney, was elected Prosecuting Attorney by a 2300 majority. Bruere's father is a former Prosecuting Attorney. He succeeds William F. Blaeburn, who held the office eight years.

The election for Collector of Revenue was closely contested. The report from the last few precincts tabulated gave George W. Karrenbrock, Republican, a majority of 200 votes over William H. Bruns, Jr., Democrat. Bruns and Isaac Madding, Democratic candidate for Presiding Judge of the County Court, made exceptionally good showings in a normally Republican county.

Substantial majorities were received by the following Republican candidates for State offices and the St. Louis Court of Appeals: John H. Gehrs, State Superintendent of Schools; David E. Blair, Judge Supreme Court, Division No. 2; W. C. McCluskey, State Senator for Tenth District; George F. Hald, Judge St. Louis Court of Appeals.

Republicans elected to succeed themselves in office are: Representative Louis J. Ring; Henry F. Ohlms, County Court, Eastern District; Fred H. Brumme, Clerk of the Circuit Court; Charles H. Kansteiner, Recorder of Deeds.

John G. Dushbert, Republican, was elected Presiding Judge of the County Court, and Walter C. Borget was elected Clerk of the court. William F. Acheloh, Republican, defeated Ora A. Keithly for both the unexpired and the full term as Probate Judge.

The vote on the propositions was from 2 to 1 to 1 against, as follows: No. 1—Yes, 130,000; no, 213,900. No. 2—Yes, 1221; no, 2142. No. 3—Yes, 104,000; no, 2131. No. 4—Yes, 738; no, 2228. No. 5—Yes, 1468; no, 2074. No. 6—Yes, 888; no, 2427. No. 7—Yes, 1423; no, 2104.

ST. CHARLES COUNTY G. O. P. TICKET WINS

R. E. L. Fulkerson, Democrat, Is Re-elected to the County Court.

Complete returns from the 38 precincts of St. Charles County give Republican majorities with two exceptions. Circuit Judge Edgar B. Woolfolk, Democrat, was unopposed for re-election to the Thirtieth Judicial Circuit. Judge R. E. L. Fulkerson, County Court, Western District, defeated his Republican opponent, Edward Gerde mann, by 287 votes.

Congressman Clarence Cannon, Democrat, who apparently will be re-elected to his fifth term by a majority of 10,000, votes, ran slightly behind Frank H. Hollman, Warrenton publisher, in St. Charles County. Hollman received 2676 votes and Cannon 2662. In previous elections Cannon usually received a substantial majority in St. Charles County.

Theodore Bruere Jr., 26-year-old State Attorney, was elected Prosecuting Attorney by a 2300 majority. Bruere's father is a former Prosecuting Attorney. He succeeds William F. Blaeburn, who held the office eight years.

JUDGE DRIVES RACE HORSES ON HIS 88TH BIRTHDAY

Sportman Has Taken Daily Jaunt in Denver Parks Since 1903.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
DENVER, Colo.—Driving a regulation racing cart behind a spirited horse is the real exercise for a live man, according to Judge J. E. Colburn, Denver capitalist and retired jurist, who drove three horses around the track in city park on his eighty-eighth birthday recently.

"Swimmers claim their sport throws every muscle in the body into play," the Judge said. "Well, the old-time horseman has them beat on one score. You can swim with your eyes shut, but you can't drive that way."

The Judge, who came to Colorado in 1872, has for many years been a prominent figure in Colorado business and sports circles. He has been a jurist, mining man, hotel owner and fancier of fine horses.

In 1888 he organized the Gentleman's Pleasure Driving Club at Colorado Springs while a practicing lawyer in that city. Since coming to Denver in 1903 he has taken his daily drive in the park.

Rumors of Discrimination.

Since then there have been rumors of discrimination against it, as well as against the Producers and Kennet, Sparks & Co., the latter being a non-cooperative concern. Some time back investigation of the situation here was made by R. W. Dunlap, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, and Dr. F. W. Miles of Washington, assistant chief of the Packer and Stockyards division. The citation issued is said to be based on their investigations. It is alleged that the other commission companies refused to trade with Kennet-Sparks & Co. or the National Order Buying Co. A further claim is that Government authorities are the other order buyers would neither buy nor attempt to buy stock from the Producers. By these practices it is asserted the concerns cited failed to set the benefit of selling in open competition for their principals.

The citation, it is said at the stockyards, was issued not at instance of the National Order Buying Co., but by the Federal authorities following their investigation. Charles A. Ewing, Decatur, Ill., is president of the National Livestock Marketing Association. Officers and employees of the co-operative concerns will appear only as witnesses. It is their assertion that the alleged discrimination is the result of opposition to the former marketing his own product in his own way, as well as a general attack on co-operative marketing.

Judge C. E. Miles of Washington will appear as attorney for the Packer and Stockyards Administration, and J. B. Horigan of Washington as examiner at the hearing. Borders & Borders, Kansas City, will represent the firms cited.

TO HEAR CHARGES OF DISCRIMINATION AT STOCK YARDS

Federal Officials to Hold Inquiry in Allegations of Unfair Handling of Livestock at National City.

A hearing on charges against 41 firms and individuals of practicing discrimination in handling livestock on the market at the National Stock Yards will open at 10 a.m. tomorrow in the Federal Building at East St. Louis. Firms against which discrimination is alleged to have been carried on are the Producers Livestock Commission Association and its subsidiary, the National Order Buying Co., and Kennet, Sparks & Co., also a firm of order buyers. The other two are co-operative concerns.

Those cited are members of the St. Louis Live Stock Exchange, with the exception of the Farmers Live Stock Commodity Co., a co-operative. The Exchange has never admitted co-operatives to its membership. The old-line companies, in 1928, were charged with discrimination against the Farmers and the Producers, and the Packer and Stock Yards Administration, after a hearing, issued an order that the concerns cited "cease and desist" from the alleged practices.

Organized Eight Years Ago.

Following extensive research work by a committee of 15 appointed by J. R. Howard, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, the Producers Livestock Commission was organized eight years ago. Since opening on the St. Louis market it has taken on nationwide proportions and now has offices at most of the large live-stock markets in the country.

Up to the first of the year, on the St. Louis market alone, the Producers had handled approximately 104,000 cars of stock valued at $175,000,000.

When the Federal Farm Board was organized under the Agricultural Marketing Act, C. B. Denman, Farmington, Mo., resigned as head of the National Producers to become the livestock representative on the board.

The National Order Buying Co., affiliated with the Producers, is a branch of the farmer owned and controlled National Livestock Marketing Association now sponsored by the Federal Farm Board. The national association has 18 member agencies throughout the country. First organized at Buffalo, N. Y., in 1923, it already had numerous branches prior to the formation of the Federal Farm Board, and has sold some $35,000,000 worth of livestock. The local branch opened on the St. Louis market Aug. 4.

Rumors of Discrimination.

Since then there have been rumors of discrimination against it, as well as against the Producers and Kennet, Sparks & Co., the latter being a non-cooperative concern. Some time back investigation of the situation here was made by R. W. Dunlap, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, and Dr. F. W. Miles of Washington, assistant chief of the Packer and Stockyards division. The citation issued is said to be based on their investigations.

It is alleged that the other commission companies refused to trade with Kennet-Sparks & Co. or the National Order Buying Co. A further claim is that Government authorities are the other order buyers would neither buy nor attempt to buy stock from the Producers. By these practices it is asserted the concerns cited failed to set the benefit of selling in open competition for their principals.

The citation, it is said at the stockyards, was issued not at instance of the National Order Buying Co., but by the Federal authorities following their investigation.

Charles A. Ewing, Decatur, Ill., is president of the National Livestock Marketing Association. Officers and employees of the co-operative concerns will appear only as witnesses.

It is their assertion that the alleged discrimination is the result of opposition to the former marketing his own product in his own way, as well as a general attack on co-operative marketing.

Judge C. E. Miles of Washington will appear as attorney for the Packer and Stockyards Administration, and J. B. Horigan of Washington as examiner at the hearing. Borders & Borders, Kansas City, will represent the firms cited.

FORMER AMERICAN ACTRESS LENT PLANE TO KING CAROL

Elsie de Wolfe Mendl aided His Dash From Paris to Romania.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Elsie de Wolfe, who left the stage some years ago to tell the wives of millionaires what kind of furniture and draperies to put in their mansions and apartments, is back in town for a short visit. She is Lady Mendl in private life and her home is in Paris.

It develops that she was the unwilling accomplice in an exiled prince's dash for a throne. Because it was frequently necessary for her to attend antique sales in the European capitals at a few hours' notice, a plane was put at her constant service, with Lalouette, French war ace, as pilot. This plane had been in service some weeks when she received an urgent call one morning. An excited voice asked: "Will you be using the plane today, Lady Mendl?"

When she said "No," the pilot asked if the plane might be used for 48 hours on an important mission.

"Use it the remainder of the week, if you wish," she replied.

It was this plane that picked up Carol and rushed him to Romania unexpectedly and resulted in his supplanting his son Michael as king.

EL PASO, Tex., Nov. 5.—Getting into Mexico is more difficult than getting into Europe, Asia or China, said Senator Otto F. Glenn, Republican, Illinois, protesting against what he says was the "red tape" I was forced to unwind before leaving on a hunting trip into Chihuahua" with a party of five friends.

Accompanying Glenn are Herbert S. Hicks, former Senator from Illinois; H. J. Collins, director of the Rockford, Ill., Chamber of Commerce; G. J. Boehland, president of the Rockford Sanitary District; Dr. Harlan MacMullen of Manistee, Mich., and O. M. Burgess of Anna, Ill.

Although passports for the party were arranged in advance and the hunting licenses applied for, there was considerable delay in crossing into Mexico, much to the annoyance of Senator Glenn.

The party expects to establish quarters at the X-Bar-L Ranch, Colonia Garcia, Chihuahua, if it succeeds in securing Mexican permission.

DALLAS, Tex., Nov. 5.—Texas' only Republican Congressman, Harry M. Wurzbach of Seguin, retained his seat in the election and the Democrats continued to hold the remaining 17 Texas posts in the National House of Representatives.

The Democrats also captured all the State races by overwhelming majorities as usual. Returns indicate that about 300,000 voters participated, whereas some $60,000 took part in the second Democratic primary less than three months ago.

Ross S. Sterling, wealthy Houston newspaper publisher and chairman of the State Highway Commission, was elected Governor, and Morris Sheppard, author of the eighteenth amendment, was returned to the United States Senate. Col. William E. Talbot, Republican nominee for Governor, apparently did not poll the 100,000 votes, which were necessary to enable his party to hold a primary two years hence.

HOOVER RECEIVES RETURNS BY RADIO AND TELEPHONE

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Surrounded by a few close friends, President Hoover received only scattered election returns from the East and Middlewest before retiring shortly after his customary hour last night. Late in the afternoon he went from his office to his study in the White House and there received the results of the voting.

The radio and telephone reports from press associations and from the Republican National Committee headquarters here kept Mr. Hoover informed of the returns. Before retiring he had been informed of the election of Gov. Roosevelt in New York and of the lead of James Hamilton Lewis in Illinois.

Mrs. Hoover made her final trip of the year to the presidential lodge in Virginia to close it for the winter. She returned, however, through the mud and rain to be with the President last night.

Secretary of the Interior and Mrs. Wilbur, Secretary of Agriculture Hyde and two members of the White House secretariat—Walter Newton and George Akerson—completed the President's election party.

MORE AMBITIOUS FOOTBALL SCHEDULE SEEMS LIKELY FOR ST. LOUIS U.

BILLIKENS MAY MEET MISSOURI AND ILLINOIS IN 1931 SEASON

By Dent McSkimming.

Confident that a fine freshman squad of today is going to make the St. Louis University team of next season one of the biggest and most powerful of many years, Acting Athletic Director Father Conaway and Coach Chile Walsh are taking steps to provide a schedule that will enable such a team to do itself justice. Illinois and Missouri universities are probable opponents besides Washington, Butler, Oklahoma City U. and the two Loyolas. Rolla, too, probably will have a place on the schedule.

The Big Six Conference is sort of up in the air as a result of the Kansas "incident," said Coach Walsh today. "The reason Director Butler and myself were unable to sign a contract for a game next season," Walsh visited Columbia Mo., Monday for the purpose of signing a two-year contract. "So far as St. Louis and Missouri are concerned, the game seems on, but the question of a date is holding things up." Missouri, as is known, will not meet Kansas next season.

Illinois Willing.

Illinois seems willing to meet St. Louis on Oct. 3 at Champaign. The proposed date of the Missouri game is Nov. 14, and St. Louis wants to play the game at Walsh Stadium.

Speaking recently of the possibility of taking on bigger and stronger opposition next season, Walsh said that he believes St. Louis U.'s field is right here in the Missouri Valley. "It would be suicide for me to try now to book a game with Notre Dame," he said in answer to a question regarding the possibility of such a contest. "We certainly are not strong enough to win, and what good would it do us to get beat, and possibly crippled? Rockne could only give us an early season game, possibly the first of the season, when our players would be far from ready for such a hard contest. What I want to do is book as many games as possible with teams of the Missouri Valley and Big Six conferences. Those schools are in the most part located in small towns, with no chance to draw big crowds. St. Louis has the population, and I think that with a winning team and a good schedule we can be sure of drawing good crowds here and we will be playing teams more nearly in our class."

Walsh's close connection with Rockne, his old coach, led some Billiken followers to hope that he might schedule a game with Notre Dame, but Chile is not even considering such a game.

Cripples Return.

All the cripes except Tom Tierney were on the practice field yesterday. Mullerleile, whose injury is a chipped elbow, was passing the ball from center but it is apparent that he is in no shape to actually play. The same condition prevails in the case of LaPresta, who hobbled through the practice on one leg. Joseph was in uniform but he was careful not to let anyone bump his shoulder.

The practice was limited to a line scrimmage, designed to strengthen the defense, and a dummy scrimmage for the benefit of the backs. Three teams of Freshmen ran through signals under Eddie Brown's coaching. One of these Freshmen teams averages 180 pounds in the backfield and 190 pounds in the line and only one player can be termed "fat." The rest are all big, heavily muscled lads who are fast.

Coach John D. Davis, who has charge of the Washington University football team, does not want to give up the Nov. 22 date, and St. Louis will therefore have to find another day for the proposed game with the Notre Dame "B" team. There is still hope that the game will be played here, probably at night.

Loyola Team Has Lost Five of Its Six Games.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—Although a season that had promised to be the most successful in many years has been permanently marred by five straight defeats, Loyola's football squad yesterday buckled down to hard work in the hope that it may redeem itself in the three games remaining on the schedule.

The Chicagoans journey to St. Louis for a Friday night battle. The game will mark the eighth annual meeting of the two schools, Loyola having four victories and three defeats to its credit in the seven previous contests.

The expectation is that St. Louis will even the score Friday, for the team was scouted in its game against Butler College at Indianapolis two weeks ago, and Scout Bob Burke reported back that the St. Louis team seemed much more formidable than a year ago. Loyola defeated St. Louis here last year 13 to 6.

Last night's long drill period was occupied chiefly by an extended scrimmage against a freshman team which used St. Louis plays. The Freshmen failed to gain a great deal of ground, due mainly to their own lack of power.

Another long scrimmage is scheduled for today. The team will depart for St. Louis at noon tomorrow.

Northwestern Utilizes Great Back In Simple Thrusts Through Tackle

The return of Hank Bruder, Northwestern University's 200-pound backfield ace, to the lineup once again gives the Purple an opportunity to use its favorite "Bruder" play—an unpredictable smash through tackle.

By OSSIE SOLEM.

Head Coach, Drake University.
DES MOINES, Ia., Nov. 5.—Coach Dick Hanley at Northwestern in my opinion has one of the greatest backs ever to grace a football field.

Hank Bruder is the back in question. Bruder weighs 200 pounds. He is fast and as graceful and natty on his feet as a dancer.

A dash off tackle by Bruder from the two wing back formation is one of the most consistent gainers Northwestern has. Russell, quarterback, receives the ball from the center and simply places it into the pit of Bruder's stomach as he comes by.

Woodworth, left guard, comes out to lead Bruder up the field.

After giving the ball to Bruder, Russell turns and blocks any lineman who may have sifted through. Baker, the rangy left end, may patrol behind the line with the same purpose in mind.

There is no deception whatsoever in this play, but when preceded by a series of fakes and spinners and criss-crosses and reverses the simplicity adds to its effectiveness.

Miller Will Start at Halfback for Bears in Game Against Grinnell

By James M. Gould.

Confident of their ability to defeat Grinnell, Saturday night, and thus record their first 1930 Missouri Valley Conference victory, the Washington U. Bears' football morale today is higher than at any previous period this season. With the single exception of Butz, the big center, every one of Coach Al Sharpe's first-stringers is ready to go.

Butz, because of a bad ankle and despite his love of the game and fight in it, has become a "one-quarter man." For about 15 minutes he can maintain his pace a dash position; after that, the ankle refuses to hold him up and he has to be relieved. Assistant Coach Gale Bullman today will continue his training of Bob Higgins as a center. Higgins has his place as first-relief for Butz but Higgins now is ranked No. 2 and may see service against the Iowa Pioneers.

The showing made by Higgins in scrimmage yesterday was satisfactory which probably means that Guth, a center candidate last week, may act as a guard in Higgins' place.

The Drake game, even though the Bears were defeated, 12-0, did one helpful thing. It settled the Washington backfield. Dave Miller, according to the coaches, played a splendid game all the way through and fairly earned his half-back post. Max Tyrrell, Scott Hornsby and the elusive Sauselle complete the ball-carrying quartet. Today may decide the question of whether Tyrrell or Sauselle shall call signals in the Grinnell game.

Assistant Coach Thomas will scout the Crighton-Drake game in Omaha, Saturday night. Being a member of the back three of Freshmen, van Throen signals under Eddie Brown's coaching. One of these Freshmen teams averages 180 pounds in the backfield and 190 pounds in the line and only one player can be termed "fat." The rest are all big, heavily muscled lads who are fast.

YOUNG STRIBLING ACCEPTS TERMS FOR TITLE BOUT WITH SCHMELING

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 5.—A battle for the heavyweight championship of the world between W. L. (Young) Stribling and Max Schmeling, present holder of the title, loomed today when "Pa" Stribling, the Georgian's father-manager, announced that he had reached an agreement whereby Stribling would fight on the 1931 milk fund card.

Schmeling already has accepted an offer to participate in the charity program, and, with Stribling's acceptance made known today, it was believed that the German heavyweight will place his title at stake in a bout with the Georgia aspirant to the throne.

Although the site of the bout has not been definitely determined, Stribling intimated that the fight probably would be held in Shreveport.

The elder Stribling departed today for Chicago, where he is to confer with officials of the Chicago Stadium regarding Young Stribling's bout there next month with either Tuffy Griffith or Jim Maloney as his opponent.

"Pa" also announced that he had refused an offer for his son to meet Victorio Campolo, Argentine heavy, to the Baltimore club and he played centerfield against us.

The milk fund bout will be held June 1.

Philadelphia Obtains George Earnshaw From Baltimore Club for $80,000 in Cold Cash Deal.

In the meantime, Speaker has been bashed because of lameness and was confining his activities to coaching from first base. Our line-up at the time consisted of Bishop, second; Haas, center; Cochrane, catcher; Simmons, left; Fox, third; Miller, right; Orwell, first; Boley, short, and the pitcher.

Enter Earnshaw.

FOR this Western trip we had another pitcher available, George L. Earnshaw, the right-handed ace of International League pitchers. We bought him from Baltimore.

For two seasons I had made overtures for Earnshaw, but Jack Dunn always piped an unrelenting negative in his peculiar voice.

All the time Earnshaw has been wondering whether his baseball career would close in the minors without his ever pitching a ball in the fast set.

Earnshaw was graduated from Swarthmore College and comes of a fine family, and had plenty of ambition and he as much as told Dunn that he would quit baseball the next year unless he was sent to the majors.

Thereupon Dunn sold him to me in the month of July for $10,000 in cash, no players being involved. As in some of the previous big deals, I remunerated Dunn in several payments instead of paying the entire amount at once.

That boosted the sum I had paid Dunn for players in a few seasons to the huge total of $265,000 as follows:

Bishop	$ 20,000
Grove	100,000
Haley	65,000
Earnshaw	80,000

Total ..... $265,000
I want to again point out that these deals represented cold cash, not one player from us is sold, nor is there one player from us involved in the four transactions. (Copyright, 1930.) No. 52 Tomorrow.

EQUIPOISE IS WINNER OF PIMLICO FUTURITY, WITH $40,000 ADDED

TWENTY GRAND IS SECOND AND MATE THIRD IN FIELD OF EIGHT

the Associated Press.
BALTIMORE, Nov. 5.—Equipoise carried the colors of the late Harry Payne Whitney to victory in the Pimlico Futurity, 2-year-old classic at the Pimlico track here this afternoon. Twenty Grand was second and Mate third.

Equipoise won from seven of the two-year-olds in America covering the mile and one-sixteenth in 1:48 3-5 on a muddy track.

Equipoise paid $3.90 for a $2 mutuel ticket and was admirably ridden by Sonny Workman.

The race was worth $40,000 added.

Late withdrawal of Vanderpool reduced the field to eight.

The Whitney colt finished a half length ahead of Mrs. Payne Whitney's Twenty Grand in driving finish.

A. C. Bostwick's Mate was only a neck behind in third place, with Aegis, Gigantic, Bar Hunter, Tamboer and Gackgammon trailing in.

Newman has taken the place of the great Benny Friedman, and his work has been one of the reasons for the success of the Wolverine eleven this season.

Michigan Ace for Harvard Game

HAROLD NEWMAN

8500 MICHIGAN FANS WILL SEE HARVARD GAME

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—Even a Western Conference football champion, or a tie for the title, would not offset a defeat by Harvard Saturday, and preparation for the struggle has reached life and death proportions.

How much Michigan wants a victory over the Crimson—and apparently expects it—is indicated by the fact that 8500 supporters and a 10-piece band will accompany the Wolverines to Cambridge. Michigan's first triumph over Harvard in gridiron history was recorded last year when the Wolverines suddenly came to life after a sad early season, and gained a 14 to 12 victory.

That game was the turning point of the season and Michigan went on to hole Iowa to a tie, and defeat an admittedly superior Minnesota eleven.

Coach Harry Kipke has developed a fine forward passing attack around Harry Newnam, sensational sophomore quarterback, but is working to organize a running attack. Every regular except Bill Hewitt, a good end, will be in condition for the battle at Cambridge.

Illinois Team is Crippled.
Of the other Midwestern elevens who will conduct raids into the East Saturday, Notre Dame, Ohio State and Illinois, only the Illini are not being driven this week. Coach Bob Zupke has so many cripples at Champaign that he doesn't dare take chances on any more, and is concentrating on a new offense and replacements for his line. Illinois surprised the Army last year, but does not appear capable of doing much against the Cadets Saturday.

Knute Rockne hasn't let up on his first-and-second teams this week, and is still trying to drive out the danger of overconfidence before Pennsylvania is met at Philadelphia Saturday. Yesterday he revised the shock troop backfield, which did not operate as he wished against Indiana last week. Bernie Leahy replaced Mike Koken at left half, Carl Crosson went to quarter in place of Chuck Jackovich, and Clarence Kaplan played at right half for Paul O'Cear.

Ohio State's preparation for its game with the Navy Saturday has been slowed down by numerous injuries. None have been serious, but have kept Coach Sam Williamson from concentrating on the same lineup each day.

Purdue Regulars Rest.
Purdue is so little worried about Chicago that Coach Kizer has not drilled his first string and reserves this week. They were down for work today, but Kizer said they would get just enough to keep on edge. The Maroons put in a session on defense against Bollermaier running plays yesterday and probably will stick to defense all week.

Defense preparation for Northwestern's land and air attack is the main item at Indiana this week. The Hoosiers, as usual, will distinctly be the underdogs, but are still hopeful of having their annual "good day" against the Wildcats. Northwestern will rely on Hank Bruder to throw passes well injured Pug Rentner, while Lefty Leach will be the fourth member of the backfield with Hanley and Russell.

Women Form League.

Numerous groups of women representing mothers' circles of the public schools have arranged league play at Heidelberg's bowling parlor so as to be eligible to compete for the Wooster Lambert trophy. Among the schools already in action are Gardenville, Wyman, Adams, Rock Spring and Peabody. Several other schools will likely get under way soon.

STOCKHAM POST TRIES TO MATCH BABE MCCORGARY WITH STILLMAN

By W. J. McGoogan.

Charles E. Downs, chairman of the Boxing Committee of the Fred W. Stockham Post, is to ask Seneca Taylor, State Boxing Commissioner, to change the next date for a boxing show to be held by the Post from Nov. 14 to Nov. 21 on which date a program featuring Babe McCorgary, Oklahoma, and Al Stillman, St. Louis is planned.

Mique Malloy, Chicago, who was reinstated as a matchmaker by Taylor conferred with Downs before returning to his home and they agreed to hold another show on the twenty-first.

Malloy, who was a matchmaker for the Stockham Post, was reinstated as a promoter on the condition that he withdraw his application for a promoter's license in Missouri. This action was taken to permit Malloy to operate as a promoter in states other than Missouri which are under the jurisdiction of the National Boxing Association. His suspension, imposed last week, automatically barred him in all states under the N. B. A. and his reinstatement automatically makes him eligible to promote in other states.

All Hands Satisfied.

The unpaid bills resulting from the Mickey Rader-Walker-Tiger Cline fight at the Coliseum last month were either paid or arrangements satisfactory to the creditors made and when Malloy can go to the commission office and show him a clean slate his application for a new promoter's license will be in order and Taylor gave him to understand such an application would be acted upon favorably.

In a statement issued after a long conference between Malloy and Taylor, Taylor declared that the whole trouble arose from a misunderstanding as to whether Malloy was acting as a promoter or merely as a matchmaker for the Walker bout.

Taylor declared that Malloy was both promoter and matchmaker and as such it was to him that Taylor looked for the settlement of all bills pertaining to the card. Malloy asserted that he was merely acting as matchmaker for the Post, in which capacity there were several bills charged against him for which he was not liable.

Reinstated as Matchmaker.

As there seemed no way out the two finally agreed that Malloy should be reinstated as a matchmaker and as a promoter on condition that he withdraw his promoter's license until such time as all bills were paid and the difficulties adjusted.

The final settlement is expected to be made later in the week when, it is understood, Benny McGovern who is associated with Malloy in the boxing venture, returns to St. Louis.

As soon as his status as matchmaker was assured, Malloy turned to the promotion of another fight card and after talking to Downey began plans for a Stillman-McGowan go.

This bout is to be held in the Coliseum and on the same bill Malloy hopes to pit John Schwake, Webster Groves heavyweight, against a capable opponent. He had hoped to present a return match between Schwake and Chuck Wiggins of Indianapolis and may do so if Chuck's difficulties with the police of his home town are not such that will prevent him from traveling.

Taylor is to go to Columbia, Mo., Saturday to attend a meeting of the State Board which will act upon appeals of boxers and promoters from suspension imposed by the commission and to discuss the need for more stringent regulation of amateur bouts in St. Louis and Kansas City.

Chester L. Brewer, director of athletics at Missouri University and chairman of the State Boxing Commission, called the meeting.

"Rut" Walter Named Coach.

By the Associated Press.
EVANSTON, Ill., Nov. 5.—Russell "Rut" Walter, Big Ten outdoor champion in the quarter mile, and national collegiate titleholder in 1929, while at Northwestern, has been appointed assistant to Frank Hill, Northwestern track coach.

Results in the Lafayette South Side league on the Cinderella alleys were as follows: Commercials 2, Trusts 1; Safe Deposits 2, Discounts 1; Bonds & Savings 0. The Scoulers are leading the 18-team league by three games, having won 20 while dropping 4. The Hollands are second, Independents third and Pinots fourth.

The Jackson Movers, winners of last year's Arway Scratch league title, and who are rolling far beyond their form of last season, came to life on the Arway alleys last night and took three games from the Arway Recreations and now rest in third place with a record of 17 games won and 12 lost. The Jackson shot 2395 with a high count of 1014. Buzz Wilson's 629 and Jack Woods' 611 were high for the winners. Bud Schmitt's Unions are leading the league with the Arway Sales second.

The Northern section is the strongest in the competition and the list of entries shows clearly that the class of competition is certain to be of a high grade. In the East division there will be Charles McCourt, a former world's champion; Hugh Heald and Clarence Jackson, all veteran players; while in the West division there will be Charles Morin, Len Kenney, Earl Lookabaugh and Arthur Thurnblad, all able performers. Joseph Moriarty, brother of George, the American League umpire, will be seen in the East division. Augie Kleckhafer of Chicago, last year's Northern winner and an eight-time world's champion, will be missing on account of illness.

The complete list of entries for the Northern section follows:

Eastern division—Hugh Heald, Billiard Room, Toledo, O.; Charles McCourt, Thirteenth Street Recreation, Cleveland; Clarence Jackson, The Recreation, Detroit; Charles Thompson, The K Recreation, Dayton; Ray Palmer, the Plankinton Arcade, Milwaukee; Joseph Moriarty, unattached; Chicago; Edward R. Peters, Chicago Three-Cushion Billiard League, Chicago, and Frank M. Schober, Pitton Billiard Room, Cincinnati, Western division—Charles Morin, the Kleckhafer Recreation, Chicago; Len Kenney, unattached; Chicago; Earl Lookabaugh, the Illinois Athletic Club, Chicago; Arthur Thurnblad, Robinson, Paxton Billiard Room, Omaha, Neb.; G. V. Nuttford, the Minneapolis Recreation, Minneapolis; Jack Henley and H. Claussen, the Mission Billiard Parlor, Des Moines.

ALL-MARINE TEAMS TO BE DROPPED FOR POST ORGANIZATIONS

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—An order for the discontinuance of the all-Marine football and baseball teams was issued today by Major-General Ben H. Fuller, Marine Corps commandant.

In place of the "all" teams, post teams will be maintained at Quantico, Va.; Parris Island, S. C., and San Diego, Cal.

Major David L. Brewster, Marine Corps athletic officer, said the change would not necessarily do away with the President's cup game.

Through elimination contests the best team will be selected to meet the coast guard teams in the annual President's cup game.

SPINACH BEATS GOOD FIELD IN RIGGS HANDICAP

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Returning to the track where last year he first gave evidence of developing into a great race horse, William Ziegler Jr.'s Spinach battled through mud and a classy field of 3-year-olds to win the Riggs Handicap at the opening of Pimlico yesterday.

It was about a year ago that Spinach lost the Pimlico Futurity by a head to Flying Heels, but even in defeat the Ziegler colt appeared to be one of the colts in line for 1930 3-year-old honors. He got away to a bad start last spring, spraining his back in the Wood Memorial, but since coming back to the races he has fulfilled the fondest hopes of his admirers, yesterday's race being his fourth important state victory of the autumn.

Nine of the best colts and fillies that could be mustered started the grueling mile and one-half journey, but once Jockey George Ellis was ready to send Spinach out in front, the race was over. For the first six furlongs the Ziegler star trailed the leaders, but when called on went into the lead without any effort. As the field rounded the far turn Spinach was leading the pack by a half dozen lengths while at the finish he was three lengths in front of Hal Parr's Her Grace with the Wheatsheaf Stable's Erin the same distance to the rear in third position.

In one of the most sensational upsets of the meeting, W. W. Parry's Stock Market won the twelfth renewal of the rich autumn handicap at Latonia, paying $107.40 for a $20 mutuel ticket. Manda, another outsider from Combs' string, was second with Lady Fingers, one of the more favored, third.

His Village Stands by Kohler.
By the Associated Press.
KOHLER, Wis., Nov. 5.—Kohler village stands by Gov. Walter J. Kohler, though Governor-elect La Follette defeated him in the September primary. The vote in this model industrial village established by Kohler was 634 for Hammersley (Dem.) and 64 for La Follette (Rep.).

Chicago Bond Issues Carry.
CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—A construction program totaling $28,510,000 was approved by Chicago and Cook County voters, early returns indicate. Thirteen bond issues for projects planned by the city, county and Lincoln Park and authorizing street and lighting improvements, playgrounds and water filtration received yes votes of nearly two to one.

SAYS MANY ADULTS ARE BOUND BY THE HABITS OF CHILDHOOD
Missouri U. Dean Lists Tantrums, Day Dreaming and Escape by Illness

Adult minds are commonly bound by childish habits, such as tantrums, day dreaming, escape by illness, and the mother fixation. Dr. John A. McGeoch, dean of psychology at the University of Missouri, told the E'na El Temple Sisterhood Child Study Group yesterday.

"The child who at 5 gets his desire by throwing himself on the floor and having 'tantrums' will at 50 seek to accomplish his purpose by similar social conduct, although he has learned not to kick and scream," said Dr. McGeoch.

"The man who makes decisions in the light of what his mother would have him do has not outgrown childishness, and adults who seek to escape situations through illness account for innumerable cases ranging from a headache to chronic invalidism."

Dr. McGeoch declared that the ability to learn starts at birth, increases steadily for 25 years, remains level for 10 more years, and then declines until the person is 70 years old.

Awards to Members of Byrd Party. By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Three members of the Byrd Antarctic expedition were honored by the Navy Department yesterday. Capt. Alton N. Parker of Los Angeles, a Marine Corps officer, was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross by Secretary Adams for "extraordinary achievement as test pilot in a flight of the expedition which resulted in claiming new land for the United States." The Navy Cross was awarded to Master Technical Sergeant Victor H. Czegla of Malden, Mass., for "distinguished service" as a machinist for the expedition, and Gunner Sergeant Kennard F. Bubler of Washington, D. C., for "distinguished service" as an aviation mechanic.

The case—suit brought in the District Court by the Clarion River Power Co., of Pennsylvania, to enjoin the commission from continuing its audit of the company's capital investments—strikes at the heart of the 1920 water power act. Had the suit remained in the supervision of the Department of Justice, Government lawyers would have been confronted with the recent advisory opinion of Attorney-General Mitchell in the New River, Va., case which casts doubt on the constitutionality of the act.

The original plan, despite the recent opinion of the Attorney-General, was to ignore the legal advisers of the commission, Charles A. Russell, solicitor, and J. F. Lawrence, acting general counsel, authors of the memoranda upon which the audits were made. Both these men have been zealous defenders of the commission's work and have been attacked by power company officials.

When the company filed its notice of suit, Frank E. Bonner, executive secretary of the Commission, sent the notice to the Attorney-General without notifying the Commission's legal department.

Russell and Lawson Ignored.

The Attorney-General turned the notice over to Aubrey Lawrence, a special assistant, who in turn, took up the matter with District Attorney Rover and his young assistant, who was told to prepare himself to meet the best legal brains the power companies could employ. Russell and Lawson were completely ignored, although they had been preparing themselves for such an issue for the past 15 months.

Lawrence told newspaper men this morning that Russell had been left out of the case because "he has had no experience in defending the commission in litigation," and that Lawson had been passed over because "he is only acting chief counsel and his appointment has not been confirmed." Russell has had 10 years of experience with the Interstate Commerce Commission, and Lawson had considerable court experience before joining the Commission.

Wilbur Discusses the Case.

Chairman Wilbur apparently was agreeable to this arrangement as late as this afternoon. When seen by the Post-Dispatch he confessed complete ignorance of the whole set-up, but argued at length that the Department of Justice was the agency to defend the Commission, although this case undoubtedly is the most important case involving the Commission, as it seeks destruction of the Commission's most important duty. Chairman Wilbur insisted that he knew nothing of the case except what he had read in the newspapers.

At first he contended that it was not the duty of the Commission solicitor or general counsel to appear in court, although he later admitted that the solicitor of the Interior Department often appeared in suits in the District of Columbia courts. Wilbur, who has shown hostility to Russell and Lawson on several occasions, denied that he had instructed Bonner, the executive secretary, to exclude them from the case.

Throughout the interview Wilbur repeatedly excused himself from answering questions by blandly serving "I know nothing about the case," and tried to assume the offensive by questioning the reporter with such questions as "what do you think is the function of a solicitor or general counsel?"

A stenographer took down all questions and answers. Wilbur gave no indications that he intended to take the case from the Department of Justice.

An hour after the interview, Solicitor Russell was informed by Attorney-General Mitchell by telephone that he and Lawson were to have complete charge of the case.

The first hearing will be held Nov. 14.

Russell, who admitted that he had been ignored until he received the Attorney-General's instruction, said that he was prepared to argue the case.

The Clarion River Power Co. is a subsidiary of the Associated Gas and Electric Co. Chief Accountant King found by his audit that the company in its alleged capital investments of $11,000,000, had included more than $6,000,000 of alleged expenditures which he said were "irregular and unlawful" under the 1920 water power act, the amounts involved in other accounts by King. If a precedent is set in the Clarion case, however, it would be applied to similar companies where enormous amounts are at stake.

In the town of Linn Creek where there was the most opposition, the proposal carried. The abandonment of Linn Creek was made necessary by the construction of the $33,000,000 Bagwell dam.

DAILY STORY FOR CHILDREN
By Mary Graham Bonner

The Giraffes
"We're going to visit a zoo today," said the Little Black Clock.
"That's great!" John exclaimed.
"Oh, yes," said Peggy. "I just love animals and I love to hear about all they do. We'll probably learn from them, too, because your magic makes it possible for us to understand all sorts of creatures."

"Maybe, maybe," said the Little Black Clock.
The children were a trifle puzzled. They didn't see why the Little Black Clock said "Maybe" when they knew, and he knew, that he could do this.

They reached the zoo quickly, and the first place where they went was the yard where the giraffes were.

What queer creatures they really were, with their tremendously long necks!

"Tell me," said John. "Do people always ask you if you have a sore throat?"

Both of the giraffes looked at him, but did not say a word.

"Perhaps they didn't hear you," Peggy suggested, and John repeated his question.

"Possibly they don't like that remark," said John. "They hear it often that I guess they're sick of it by now."

"I'm sorry," he continued in a loud voice. "Mr. and Mrs. Giraffe, I said something to hurt your feelings. I didn't mean to offend you. I'm sure."

"You were polite enough that me," remarked Peggy.

But still the giraffes didn't say a word. And then the Little Black Clock spoke.

"I told you," he said. "That may be you could understand all sorts of creatures because I knew there were some you couldn't understand. You see, the giraffes can't make any sounds. They haven't any vocal chords with which to speak. That's why they don't answer well."

"Well, did I ever!" exclaimed John.

"How hard it must be for them never, never, never to be able to say a word," added Peggy, who had to talk a good deal at times!

To Make Copper Antique

Various correspondents have written to me that once acquired, the disease of wanting a home in the country can be cured only by going over Niagara Falls in an insecure barrel.

One of them advises me to do something about it now, while I am still capable of figuring. If I wait until spring, he warns, I'll be likely to purchase any overpriced dove-tail that has a blossoming apple tree in the front yard.

A psychologist once told me that a desire to own a country house is merely a wish to have an elaborate setting for one's ego, and that it can be removed by proper analysis. He was anxious, it seems, to build up his business along this line, because he needed the money for a new outdoor swimming place.

It is strange how one vision of a home in the country can set off others around some rather irrelevant detail. One correspondent writes that she always visualizes a Russian wolfhound on an orange rug stretched before a colonial fireplace.

I have a friend who can see country living only in terms of swans. She has turned down many good bargains in rural acreage just because they afforded no swimming place for these rather impractical birds.

I admit that I am by no means free from a similar fixed idea. When I think of a country estate I somehow always see a row of beeshives standing together in the foreground.

It is strange that this should be so, for I have never raised any bees except the bonnet variety. Since the day when I poked my 6-year-old countenance into what looked like an outdoor doll's house and was rather fervently caressed on the nose I haven't even entertained friendly sentiment toward them.

Besides, members of the family tell me that if they are installed the bees will be my responsibility alone—that I can't look to anyone else to feed or carry them, or do any of the other little chores that are necessary for their comfort. Yet the picture of the beeshives persists and no spell so far has succeeded in removing it.

Tradition has it that he drank himself under the table every night and died of it. And since then there has been in every generation a gambling and a drinking Ollphant.

LADYBIRD greeted that. But in some subtle way Michael knew it was not a laughing matter. It was as if Virginia had flung out a bitter truth to counteract such romantic glamour as might attach itself to the history of the racketeering Richard!

Your story seems to have no moral," he told her smiling.

"Except that a gentleman who loses may win."

"Is there, by any chance," Mrs. Bleeker asked, "a copy of the verse that Richard Ollphant wrote?"

The University of Iowa is 72 years old.

BURNING BEAUTY :-: By TEMPLE BAILEY

CHAPTER FOUR.
AN ANSWER TO ARROGANCE.

THE inn to which Mrs. Bleeker took her guests was a cosy place. The food was delicious. But the company! Mrs. Bleeker, artificial as the orchids she affected; Marty Van Duyne, exquisite and utterly at her ease; Lieutenant Bleeker, all gold and glitter; and Michael McMillan!

It was Michael who swayed things level for Virginia. He had a quality of friendliness which drew her to him as she had not been drawn to any of the others. She decided that she liked him even more than she had thought when she met him in the drawing room.

She sat beside Mrs. Bleeker, with Michael on her left. Beyond that Marty, beyond that Tony Bleeker. By all rights, Tony should not have been on the other side of his mother. But Jane had instinctively separated him from Virginia. She could never have explained her instinct. But in the months that followed, she was to recognize the correctness of her intuition.

Michael was a simple figure compared to the triangle made up of one husband who wants to be a gentleman farmer, one wife who is taken with the idea of being a lady farmer, and one friend with complete inability to visualize the window curtains before the house is built.

"Two of my friends have purchased land. As long as it seems to be entirely orthodox. It has the customary number of grass-blades, trees and other foliage that I designate as weeds and not such as falling from the range of the girl in the green sweater; she talked of sports in Florida, in Westchester, in England. She was, it seemed, a tennis player of some note, and horsewoman of skill and experience. She did not say these things but they were self-evident. Then, too, there were the new plays, the people in whose houses and on whose yachts she had been entertained, and whom she had entertained in her own house and on her father's yacht. The men talked her language and so did Jane. But Virginia could not talk it. So Michael, smiling, interested. And Michael, looking down at her, thought her charming, and Tony looking across the table had no eye for Marty.

"And this is my workroom," Milton says, fighting off the beans with his stick and standing in a mud puddle to indicate the exact spot on which he will have his twister.

"No, you're standing right on top of the dining room table," Gertrude protests. There's your room, over there."

"This is my room," Milton says dejectedly, and stands woodenly with the evident intention of remaining there and having the house built around him.

"Look at the plans," I say wearily, warding off divorce for the eighth time that afternoon. The plans prove that Milton is standing in the back yard and Gertrude's dining-room table is half-way through the garage door.

"Right up there will be the casement windows," Gertrude announces.

"I look upward, and beyond noting that the sky is ominously overcast and that a theoretical house is poor shelter from a storm, see nothing.

"Beautiful," I say, "but one of the window panes is broken."

"This remark immediately draws the country-people into an intimate circle from which I am coldly excluded. I am ostracized as one who does not realize that the building of a country home indicates intellectual maturity, promotes sacred responsibility and confers everlasting benediction."

Various correspondents have written to me that once acquired, the disease of wanting a home in the country can be cured only by going over Niagara Falls in an insecure barrel.

One of them advises me to do something about it now, while I am still capable of figuring. If I wait until spring, he warns, I'll be likely to purchase any overpriced dove-tail that has a blossoming apple tree in the front yard.

A psychologist once told me that a desire to own a country house is merely a wish to have an elaborate setting for one's ego, and that it can be removed by proper analysis. He was anxious, it seems, to build up his business along this line, because he needed the money for a new outdoor swimming place.

It is strange how one vision of a home in the country can set off others around some rather irrelevant detail. One correspondent writes that she always visualizes a Russian wolfhound on an orange rug stretched before a colonial fireplace.

I have a friend who can see country living only in terms of swans. She has turned down many good bargains in rural acreage just because they afforded no swimming place for these rather impractical birds.

I admit that I am by no means free from a similar fixed idea. When I think of a country estate I somehow always see a row of beeshives standing together in the foreground.

It is strange that this should be so, for I have never raised any bees except the bonnet variety. Since the day when I poked my 6-year-old countenance into what looked like an outdoor doll's house and was rather fervently caressed on the nose I haven't even entertained friendly sentiment toward them.

Besides, members of the family tell me that if they are installed the bees will be my responsibility alone—that I can't look to anyone else to feed or carry them, or do any of the other little chores that are necessary for their comfort. Yet the picture of the beeshives persists and no spell so far has succeeded in removing it.

Tradition has it that he drank himself under the table every night and died of it. And since then there has been in every generation a gambling and a drinking Ollphant.

LADYBIRD greeted that. But in some subtle way Michael knew it was not a laughing matter. It was as if Virginia had flung out a bitter truth to counteract such romantic glamour as might attach itself to the history of the racketeering Richard!

Your story seems to have no moral," he told her smiling.

"Except that a gentleman who loses may win."

"Is there, by any chance," Mrs. Bleeker asked, "a copy of the verse that Richard Ollphant wrote?"

The University of Iowa is 72 years old.

He took out a notebook and pencil and she repeated the lines slowly, leaning her head towards him as she sat beside him.

So she said: "Why not have supper with Rickey and me tomorrow night?"

"Sunday?"

"Yes. At seven. We'll have to eat in the kitchen. But it's a nice old place. All the rest of the house is torn up."

"I'll eat anywhere—with you."

"Then I'll expect you."

"You're—oh—oh. I don't dare say it," he laughed triumphantly, and held out his hand. "It has been a great day, hasn't it? Meeting each other?"

She purred that. "It has been a great day in more ways than one."

He left her then, and she went on into the garden. Grogan, the auctioneer, stood in the open door talking to Rickey. He said, as Virginia came up, "You want to be congratulated on the results of the sale. I didn't dream we'd get such prices. But people went crazy. I never saw such bidding as there was for those candlesticks."

The blood all seemed drained from Virginia's body. She faced her brother. "Rickey, you didn't!"

"He was sulky. 'Oh, I did.'

Everybody was clamoring for them.

It would have been a shame to lose the money."

"Who got them?"

"Michael McMillan."

Virginia was conscious of a sudden sense of hurt, as if someone had struck a blow at her heart. Oh, he had seemed so kind! Yet he had robbed her of the only thing she wanted. He was a Judas—selling his soul for candlesticks.

She pushed by the two men and went into the house. Rickey followed her. Seeing his sister's white face he made a stammering defense. "Grogan insisted. He said

"Life is impossible without the kidneys. In the ordinary sense, they choose the substances to be abstracted.

An illustration of this selective action may be seen in the simple act of drinking water. If the body has a need for water, and one drinks an appropriate quantity, the water will remain in the body. But if one has no thirst, the body having no need for extra water, and one drinks a glass or more, within approximately one hour the excess water is eliminated.

The kidneys are organs of elimination. It is their function to rid the body of certain wastes. They eliminate fluids, and through them also solids which may be dissolved in water.

All of the body's blood circulates through the kidneys. It is from the blood that the kidneys abstract.

If organs are removed, the body is unable to function without the kidneys abstracting the waste products.

The kidneys are no mere filters in the ordinary sense. They choose the substances to be abstracted.

An illustration of this selective action may be seen in the simple act of drinking water. If the body has a need for water, and one drinks an appropriate quantity, the water will remain in the body. But if one has no thirst, the body having no need for extra water, and one drinks a glass or more, within approximately one hour the excess water is eliminated.

Life is impossible without the kidneys. In the experimental animal, removal of the kidneys causes the animal to die as a result of the accumulation of wastes. But life is possible with but one kidney, the removal of one kidney usually causing the other to develop.

A lump of sugar added to the pot of tea will open the leaves and make the tea much stronger.

The Kidneys

ONE of the great chapters in the science of physiology (the study of the workings of the human body in its various parts and organs) deals with the kidneys.

Some of the greatest names in medicine are associated with this organ, and on its structure and functions, monumental books have been written.

79 BODIES REMOVED FROM OHIO COAL MINE

Eighteen Workers Injured;
Others Still Missing—Inspection Party, Including Head of Company, Among Dead at Millfield.

INQUIRIES STARTED BY STATE AND U. S.

300 Children Left Fatherless by Tragedy—Gov. Cooper Orders Immediate Payment of Compensation to Families.

By the Associated Press.
MILLFIELD, O., Nov. 6.—The last body of the 79 men who were killed when an explosion and fire wrecked the underground workings of No. 6 mine of the Sunday Creek Coal Co., late yesterday, was brought to the surface this morning. The death total, previously announced at 76, was increased when the Red Cross found that three bodies had been removed direct to their homes.

Fear that the death list might be increased was expressed by rescue workers and officers of the Sunday Creek company because of the serious condition of 18 men who escaped from the shaft alive.

They were brought to the surface late last night and early today, after having spent several hours in the gas-filled shaft.

The bodies were placed in an improvised morgue in an empty store room and efforts were being made by relatives to identify them. The bodies were discolored and it appeared that the men had died from the effect of inhaling poisonous gas. The Red Cross said some miners still were missing and may have been caught under debris.

Two Investigations Started.

Hardly had the bodies reached the surface when two investigations got under way. A Federal government investigation was headed by J. J. Forbes, Pittsburgh, head of the Bureau of Mines Experimental Station at California, Calif. E. W. Smith, head of the mining section of the State Department of Industrial Relations, was in charge of a state inquiry.

While officials and rescue workers declined to express an opinion as to what caused the blast, veteran miners said it was obviously gas, although the shaft had been named as non-gaseous for several years.

The disaster left about 300 children fatherless, but Gov. Cooper ordered representatives of the Industrial Relations Department to forget "red tape" and arrange for immediate payment of workmen's compensation awards.

Story of Survivor.

A story of how he and a fellow worker escaped the gas was told by Walter Porter, 40 years old. Porter, the father of seven children, was one of those injured by the explosion. He suffered broken ribs and cuts on the forehead.

"It was nearly 12 o'clock when my buddy, Emmett Obens, and I were called to fix some latches in the No. 10 west entry," Porter said. "We had just started to work when there was a terrific noise and a wall of flame."

"The explosion blew our truck, containing our tools, approximately 35 feet, and catapulted it against the timber. I thought the trolley wire fell off when I saw the burst of flame."

"After regaining my senses I tried to rise, but something continued to fall about and imprison me. The explosion blew coal high and brattice board in all directions. It came so fast I could hardly recall what happened."

Men Near Them Escaped.

Porter told how he and Obens, dazed and not knowing whether they were hurt, lay for quite a time in the dark. The mine turned hot and the warm air rushed through. Other men near were trapped, but managed to get out.

"Finally I got up and tried to get out to three different grounds. For Ober and myself we were acquainted with the workings quite well," said Porter. "First we tried the air shaft of the old workings, but the after-damp blocked our path."

"We came back where we started and tried to escape to the No. 7 west entry. Our third attempt was made through the old room which we found was squeezed together. Finally we emerged through a trap door."

"The black damp was so bad that it saturated our handkerchiefs
